PRINCE BUYS FIRST RED CROSS SEALS SOLD THIS YEAR

Purchases 100 Stamps From 5-Year-Old Health Crusader Recently Decorated by Gen. Pershing.

DEPARTS TONIGHT TO VISIT SOUTH

Will Spend Three Days Incognito at Winter Resort, Appearing in Public at New York Tuesday.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Before going to Annapolis today to inspect the Naval Academy, the Prince of Wales purchased 100 Red Cross Christmas seals from Adrienne Mayer, the 5-year-old health crusader, who recently was decorated by Gen.
Pershing for making a perfect score in the children's health crusade against disease. The sale was the first made this year.

"Startling facts on public health conditions were shown by the medical examination of millions of men during the war," said the prince in making the purchase. "These facts have demonstrated clearly the necessity of attacking harder than ever such menaces as tuberculosis. I wish the campaign all success."

The prince made the trip to Annapolis by train, accompanied by his aunts and the American officials attached to his party. Before leaving he called on Mrs. Marshall, wife of the Vice President.

After inspecting the academy and reviewing the cadets, the prince will return here and will leave tonight for a Southern resort for a stay of several days.

He will travel strictly incognito and will make no further public appearances until he arrives in New York next Tuesday.

President Wilson, propped up in the great mahogany bed in which Baron Reinberg, later King Edward VII, slept when he visited Washington in 1860, greeted the grandson of that British King in Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, yesterday.

The prince was taken to the President's sick room after having had tea with Mrs. Wilson and the President's daughters, Miss Margaret Wilson, and Mrs. Francis B.
Savage. The visit to the sick room followed a motor trip to Mount Vernon, where the youthful British heir laid a wreath on Washington's tomb, and planted a young cedar tree in the resting place of the leader of the American colonies in their struggle with England.

Tells Story of Bed.

Soon after the President and the Prince had exchanged greetings the President noticed that his visitor was looking closely at the massive old bed and told him its story—how the Prince's grandfather had slept in it when he was entertained at the White House by President Buchanan, and of it being the same bed in which President Lincoln slept during his years in the White House.
The President inquired of the Prince as to his father, mother and grandmother, and mentioned particularly the pleasure with which he received a cablegram yesterday from Queen Mother Alexandra.

The meeting between the Prince and the President was much the same as might occur between any healthy, normal boy with a keen sense of humor and a mild-tempered statesman who has not driven the gift of laughter from him. The President laughed heartily at the vivid and humorous acquaintance the Prince gave of his life since his arrival on the American continent. The British heir was enthusiastic at the warmth of the reception he had received in the United States. The conversation between the two covered a wide range of subjects, and after the Prince had left, Rear-Admiral Grayson, the President's personal physician, said that the President's spirits had risen as the result of the visit, and that he had enjoyed it greatly.

Drives to Mt. Vernon.

The Prince was accompanied to Mt. Vernon by Vice President Marshall and Secretary Lansing and he seemed to enjoy thoroughly the drive through the autumn-tinted Virginia woods with the sun shining for the first time since the royal visitor entered the United States.

Arriving at the entrance of the grounds, Prince Edward passed through a long lane of infantrymen "at present armed" on his way to the tomb. He remained there only a few minutes and passed on to the Washington mansion.

Examining the relics within the mansion, the Prince showed both a frightful curiosity and a student's interest, and was particularly attracted by a photograph taken of his grandfather when he visited Mt.
Vernon. Looking at the photograph closely the Prince remarked: "I see grandfather wore a plug hat."

DACHSHUND GAINS POTATOES FOR BELLEVILLE MAN

Takes Counter While Farmer Is Carrying Tubers From Wagon to House.

Severin Gundlach of Belleville is one bushel of potatoes to the good as a result of a highly typical display of Kultur on the part of his dachshund yesterday.

A farmer came along with a wagon load of potatoes, and Gundlach decided to take 20 bushels, if the farmer would carry them into the cellar.
Which was agreed. The farmer wasn't so much on figures, so, in order to keep track of the number,
every time he carried a bushel down
he laid a potato on the sidewalk.
After he had carried awhile, he stopped, mopping his brow, and surveyed the row of potatoes on the sidewalk with a troubled eye.

"It doesn't seem to grow much,"
he said, but he went on. Some time later he stopped again. Just then he caught sight of the dachshund rounding the corner with a potato in his mouth. He called Gundlach, "That German dachshund of yours is stealing my counters," he said. "I know I've put 20 bushels in that cellar." He could only count 13 on the sidewalk, so as Gundlach set out to trail the dachshund. The found six potatoes in various places, making 19.
The farmer insisted that he had carried down 20 bushels, and Gundlach paid for that 20, under protest.

Later, Gundlach found another potato, and felt relieved to know that he had got his money's worth.
This morning, as he crossed the front yard, he kicked the twenty-first potato out of the grass. Gundlach says he doesn't care to sell the dog, even if he is only a dishonest hound.

LADY WARWICK CALLS BRITONS WHO DID NOT STRIKE 'BLACKLEGS'

Refuses to Contribute to Fund for Men Who Remained at Posts
During Walkout.

By the Associated Press.
BISHOP STORTFORD, England, Oct. 24.—Twelve railway men employed at the station here, who remained at their posts during the recent strike, have been presented with a sum of money and an address of appreciation by the towns people.
The Countess of Warwick, who has a residence in the town, was asked to contribute to the fund. She sent this response:

"Lady Warwick is amazed at the commemorative sent her, whose address is herewith. It is incredible that any thoughtful person should commend disloyalty to a union for monetary reward.

"PUSSYFOOT" DRY LEADER MOBBED, STILL IN THE RING

Wm. E. Johnson Ridden on a Plank by College Boys in London—Seemingly "a Good Time Was Had by All."

HAS-BLACK EYE, BUT HE HAS NO KICK

Will Beard the Students in Their College and Preach to Them on the Evils of Drink.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 14.—William E.
("Pussyfoot") Johnson, the American prohibition worker and Anti-Saloon League organizer, who yesterday was dragged from a platform and badly handled by the crowd while making a prohibition speech, discussed his experiences with a reporter today. He admitted that the situation was better, to visit the college and address the students.
The injury to Johnson's eye is said to have been caused by a misdemeanor thrown by an unidentified person.
He was taken to a hospital today after an oculist had found the lens of the injured eye to be dislocated.
The oculist ordered that Johnson be kept quiet until the extent of his injuries had been ascertained.

Paraded on Plank.

Johnson was dragged from a platform from which he had been speaking yesterday, severely beaten and paraded through two miles of crowded West End streets on a plank. His assaults for the most part were delivered by students. He suffered a badly damaged eye and other injuries.

Eventually Johnson was rescued by the police, who, during the early part of the march, simply kept the crowd back. He was rushed to the Bow Street Station, where his injuries were dressed and he was then able to go home.

The occasion of the attack was a meeting in Essex Hall, where the Strand, at which a debate had been arranged under the auspices of the Overseas Club and Patriotic League between Johnson and R. Mitchell Banks, a lawyer, on "Here and Why of American Prohibition."

A great crowd of students had gathered, and after Johnson began to speak hundreds of the students, who evidently were organized, began to throw stones and other missiles at him. Johnson was hit in the face with a bag of flour. They hoisted him onto a wagon and proceeded to King's College nearby.

"We've Got Pussyfoot."

The rioters then discarded McKenzie and mounted Johnson on a plank. This a stalwart group placed on their shoulders and marched through the Strand, Covent Garden, Leicester Square, Piccadilly Circus and Oxford Circus to Portland street, where the police intervened and effected a rescue.

As the procession passed through the streets, with banners adorned with black cats, pictures of beer steins and other decorations, there were frequent cries of "We've got Pussyfoot!"

Some of the prohibition campaigners, mostly Americans, declared to the Associated Press that they did not believe the police had made a sincere effort to break up the crowds, and contended that they could have rescued Johnson much sooner if they had so desired.

Temperance Worker Says Attack on Johnson Seals Doom of Liquor.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—"Tremendous revolution" against liquor traffic in Great Britain will result from the cowardly assault of a mob of hoodlums on William E.
("Pussyfoot") Johnson, the American Anti-Saloon League representative in England, said a statement issued here today by Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church. "Just a generation ago the American liquor trade was put on the toboggan by just such conduct," said Wilson. "This London mob has sealed the doom of the liquor traffic in Europe."

GIANT PLANE OFF ON NEW YORK-CHICAGO NONSTOP FLIGHT

Admiral Kerr's Bombing Machine Carries 1500 Pounds of Explosives, 8 Passengers.

By the Associated Press.
MINNEAPOLIS, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Vice-Admiral Mark Kerr's giant Hadley Page bombing plane took the air from Mitchell Field shortly after 7 o'clock this morning for a nonstop flight to Chicago.

The plane carried eight passengers and 1500 pounds of explosives for the American Railway Express Co. Admiral Kerr expected the trip to take about 10 hours.

The craft took off in the face of a 20-mile northwest wind. Maj. J.
Brackley of the British Royal Air Force piloted the machine. Col.
Archie Miller, commanding all army aviation fields on Long Island, was on board as a guest of Admiral Kerr.

The purpose of the flight is to demonstrate the possibility of aerial transportation for rush express matters. A whole business day will be saved in the delivery of the express packages on board if the flight is successful. The packages contain women's clothing and furs.

$1,000,000 IN FUND ASSURES EARLY START ON HOUSING PLAN

Manager Will Be Chosen Tuesday to Let Contracts for Model Work.

More than $1,000,000 has been subscribed for stock in the Home and Housing Association and, according to the announcement made earlier, work will be started soon. A meeting of a committee of directors is to be held Tuesday at which a manager probably will be chosen, and he will proceed to let the contracts for building model workingmen's houses.

Trustees met today and heard reports from the 72 subdivisions of the Chamber of Commerce, who are engaged in soliciting $500,000. Subscriptions totaling more than $100,- 000 were reported today. The total amount of stock offered is $2,000,- 000, and the remainder will be sold from time to time, as actual work progresses.

The first group of houses is to be constructed in the new industrial district around Union boulevard and Natural Bridge road.

686 WORKING GIRLS UNABLE TO FIND LODGING EACH MONTH

that an average of 686 girls are turned away monthly when they ap-

Election Fills One Session.

Most of the morning session was taken up by the election of officers.
Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett of Alexandria, Va., and May Wright Sewall of Indianapolis were elected honorary presidents. Mrs. Philip N. Moore of St. Louis was re-elected president, without opposition. Other officers elected were: First vice president, Mrs. Nathaniel E. Harris, Bradford,
Pa.; second vice president, Mrs.
Frances E. Burns, St. Louis; Mich-
third vice president, Mrs. Josephus Daniels, wife of the Secretary of the Navy; fourth vice president, Prof.
Marion P. Whitney, Vassar College; recording secretary, Mrs. Myra Kingman Miller, New York City; recording secretary, Miss Helen Taft, Bryn Mawr, Pa., daughter of former President Taft; treasurer, Dr. Emma E.
Bower, and auditor, Miss Ruth Fox of Utah.

Two Convenors Elected.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and Miss Lucy E. Anthony were elected convenors of the International Council of Women, to be held in November, 1920. This council meets every five years.

Mrs. Moore was selected yesterday as the council's choice to represent America on the league of nations assembly. It was hoped by the convention that one of the United States delegates would be a woman.

Following the election the council decided to revise its nominating rules. Dissatisfaction was expressed at the plan of the nominating committee naming only one candidate for an office. However, with but two exceptions the nominating committee's selection was upheld. Mrs.
Anna Garlin Spencer, who was defeated by Mrs. Harris for first vice president, was elected honorary vice president on a motion of Mrs. Harris.

At the Round Table luncheon at noon Mrs. Walter McNab Miller spoke on modern health programs.
Dr. Anna L. Brown, director of the Y. W. C. A., conducted a conference on "Women's Foundation for Social Health."

The council will end its session tonight. The next session of the evening will be Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews, representative of the council at the Paris Peace Council, and Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer, who will speak on the International Council and the League of Nations.

LAWS UPHOLDING CHILDREN OUT OF WEDLOCK URGED

Woman's National Council
Adopts Resolution Asking That Such Children Bear Names of Fathers.

Laws legitimizing children born out of wedlock were urged in the resolutions presented today by Mrs.
Ellen Spencer Mussey, chairman of the department of legal status of women and children, at the morning session of the National Council of Women at Hotel Statler. The resolution, which was unanimously adopted, demanded the rights of the child to the father's name and to inherit property of both parents.

Other resolutions presented by Mrs. Mussey advocated the establishment of minimum wage boards in all states, urged laws giving joint and equal guardianship of parents over minor children and for raising the age necessary for making a contract, and appealed to Congress to pass laws allowing women marrying aliens to retain their citizenship.

20,000 Alien Brides in U. S.

Mrs. Mussey said that approximately 20,000 alien brides of American soldiers are now in this country.
She proposed that all alien women should be required to elect whether they would become naturalized or desire to retain their native citizenship.

North Dakota, she stated, has the only laws giving justice to children born out of wedlock, and that the

FEAR IN FRANCE SENATE'S ACTION WEAKENS LEAGUE

News of Adoption of Resolutions Causes Feeling of Despair, Says Editor of Le Matin.

HOW FRANCE ACTED IN SIMILAR SITUATION

Pointed Out That With Politics Dominating Senate
There Is No Assurance of Stability in Agreements.

By STEPHEN LAUZANNE,
Editor of Le Matin at Paris.
PARIS, Nov. 14.—A feeling amounting to despair has been created throughout France on receipt of the news of the Senate's first vote adopting resolutions in the Versailles treaty. In the opinion of the French people, the whole construction of the league of nations is threatened.

France has never been over-enthusiastic about the league of nations.
But she sincerely accepted the idea of a league because she had been told it was the desire of America.
The whole treaty stands on the league and the co-operation of America. The problems of Sarre, Danzig, the Near East and the German colonies have been solved after many discussions by the creation of the league at the suggestion of America.

"We are now told by the American Senate that we were wrong to listen to an American President and follow an American suggestion; there is to be no league of nations or at least the league is to be without American co-operation. The whole skyscraper is crumbling and,
of course, it is the hope of those who are pulling it down that it will bury them when it falls under its ruins, but let them take care that they do not bury something else in the debris."

Senate and the Future.

In tearing to pieces a treaty which was signed by an American President, the Senate is also tearing to pieces the possibility in the future of any treaty with an American Government. You must take with their defects. One of their qualities is logic
—so, logically, when, in 1922, a Republican President will come forth with a treaty proposal, the French will say, "No, thank you, our experience in 1919 is sufficient for us."

There is a precedent in France which may serve as an illustration.
In 1911 the French Government, with Cailhau at its head, signed a treaty with Germany which was the hardest in French history—a treaty which in full peace France was obliged to cede to Germany a large territory conquered by the shedding of much blood. A cry of protestation rang through the country, nevertheless the Chamber and Senate ratified the treaty because they did not want to disavow their representatives who negotiated and signed in the name of France. This act today gives additional strength to the French position. The French rightly say, "We know that our people, irrespective of party, will back us; but where is the American negotiator who tomorrow will be certain that he will be backed by the American people?"

Begs Us "to Think It Over."

I earnestly beg all our American friends to think it over. The treaty is not perfect nor is it good. We have more right in France to complain about it than any nation in the world; but we hold that an imperfect treaty is better than no treaty at all. The house of the league of nations is badly desired; it is a club where the whole space is taken by committee and writing rooms; but it will not be battered by destruction.
Let us go into it and try to make it not only a radiant, but a comfortable building.

FIRST WORK OF REPLACING STREET GAS LIGHTS TO BEGIN

Concrete Posts for Electric Globes to Be Installed on King's Highway at Cost of $12,000.

Work of electrifying the outlying streets and parks where gas lighting is now used, will begin on King's highway between Eastern and St.
Louis avenues, and including Sherman Park, formerly Christian Brothers College grounds. It will be completed in six weeks.

This first project, approved today by the Comptroller, provides for the establishment of 137 concrete lamp posts, surmounted by ornamental globes, 102 of which will be installed on the street, and 35 in the park, at a total cost of $12,000. All streets and parks are to be thus gradually electrified.

Text of Administration Reservations Offered by Senator Hitchcock

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The text of the reservations to the peace treaty—the minimum concession of the administration forces—introduced yesterday in the Senate by Democratic Leader Hitchcock, with a view to obtaining a vote on them in the closing stages of the fight in the Senate:

The United States is not proposing to withdraw from the league on two years' notice is the sole judge as to whether its obligations referred to in article 1 of the league of nations have been performed as required in said article.

That no member nation is required to submit to the league, its council, or its assembly, for decision, report or recommendation, any matter which it considers to be in international law a domestic question, and as immigration labor, tariff or other matter relating to its internal or coastwise affairs.

The national policy of the United States known as the Monroe Doctrine, as announced and interpreted by the United States, is not in any way impaired or affected by the covenant of the league of nations, and is not subject to any decision, report or inquiry by the council or assembly.

That the advice mentioned in article 16 of the covenant of the league which the council may give to the member nations as to the employment of their naval and military forces is merely advisory, and that no member nation is free to accept or reject according to the conscience and judgment of its then existing Government, and in the United States this advice can only be accepted by action of the Congress at the time in being, Congress alone under the Constitution of the United States having the power to declare war.

That in case of a dispute between members of the league if one of them has self-governing colonies, dominions or other territories, which have representation in the assembly, each and all are to be considered parties to the dispute, and the same shall be the rule if one of the parties to the dispute is a self-governing colony, dominion or part, in which case all other self-governing colonies, dominions or territories, as well as the nation as a whole, shall be considered parties to the dispute, and each and all shall be disqualified from having their votes counted in case of any inquiry on said dispute made by the assembly.

MINERS IN 2 ILLINOIS COUNTIES REFUSE TO RETURN TO WORK

Union Leader Says He Believes Strikers Will Remain Out Until New Scale Is Fixed.

Miners in the St. Clair and Madison County fields gave no indication of returning to work today, and Walter Nesbit, member of the miners' Scale Committee, before leaving new wage scale is fixed.

having "been made under duress"
and therefore invalid.

CONFERENCE ON MINERS' DEMANDS OPENS IN CAPITAL THIS AFTERNOON

Conciliatory Spirit Apparent
as Miners' and Operators' Representatives Gather for Attempt at Peace Under Guidance of Secretary
Wilson.

LASTING, REASONABLE ADJUSTMENT SOUGHT

Attorney-General Looks Into Report of Alabama Men Turned Back From Mines and Takes Cognizance of Illinois Incident.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Success of the conference between coal miners and operators, called by Secretary Wilson to begin here today, in an effort to bring peace to the bituminous coal industry, depends on all parties coming into the parley without commitments. Fuel Administrator Garfield said today.

Dr. Garfield arrived here this morning, at the invitation of Secretary Wilson, who desires his assistance in the conference, which will begin this afternoon, with the Labor Secretary presiding. Although the strike of miners has been called off, Dr. Garfield retains all the war-time powers which the President again conferred on him when the strike was called.

John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, and other union officials, arrived here today. The chief of the operators' representatives reached town yesterday.

The conference will begin at 2:30 o'clock, and Secretary Wilson hopes a lasting settlement will be reached.
The question of the time of the expiration of the Washington wage agreement of 1918 still is a subject of dispute and it is believed the views of Garfield on this point will be sought.

The demands of the miners for 40 per cent increase in pay and shorter hours are the other issues and both the miners and operators have indicated their willingness to accept a reasonable adjustment of their differences and brings about harmony within their ranks.

Holding that their participation might be construed as acceptance of the union principle, operators of nonunion coal mines outside of the central competitive field, announced here today after a conference that they probably would not accept the invitation of Secretary Wilson to take part in the conference between union miners and operators.

No Attempt at a "Trap."

The operators in a statement disclaim that the measure of the President Brewster of the coal operators' association, in the central competitive field, inviting the miners to a conference "to negotiate a contract to be in force on the termination of the contract now in effect," was an attempt to "entrap the miners into a 'last acknowledgment' of the binding force of the contract. It is said that the operators will not insist on their point that the war is not over, although their stand has been supported by the pronouncment of the administration and the mandate of Federal Judge Anderson of Indianapolis.

Miners attach significance to the fact that Fuel Administrator Garfield is to be present at the opening of the conference. It was through his influence that the Washington agreement was negotiated. It is said that his opinion may be asked as to how much of the burden of increased cost of production of coal, in case a wage advance is agreed to, the public should be called on to bear.

Secretary Wilson says that he will recommend that newspaper representatives be admitted to the conference hall.

Wage and Public Interest.

The executive committee of the coal operators in the central competitive field, in their statement, declare that the operators "are desireous of negotiating a fair wage agreement at the earliest moment so far have been prevented from doing so because the miners' demands have been complicated with impossible collateral questions."

Expressing their belief that every employee should receive as generous a wage "as the public interest will allow," the operators will go to the meeting "with that policy in mind."

Department of Justice officials are inclined to view the reported action of Illinois miners in driving careless away from mines near Duquoin as a violation of the order of Judge Anderson to the union leaders. The opinion expressed is that intimidation by the miners amounts to a conspiracy, and, therefore, it follows, the Court's mandate has been disobeyed. Officials point out that Judge Anderson's order was directed to union officials and to those attention it is brought.

Miners Still Show Disposition to Await Conference Outcome.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Slight increase in the amount of bituminous coal produced throughout the country is in prospect, but the miners generally show a disposition to await developments of the meeting today at Washington of miners and operators called by Secretary of Labor Wilson to negotiate a new wage scale.

In some States, notably Illinois and West Virginia, threatened trouble by radicals or "insurgents" among the miners complicates the situation. Miners in the Springfield, Ill., subdistrict, speaking for what they said was the position of the entire Illinois membership, said there would not be any coal mined until after the miners-operators conference reached an agreement.

In West Virginia reluctance of the miners to return to work, especially in the northern district, is attributed largely to machinations of I. W. W. and other radical agitators. Federal Department of Justice agents today are expected to enter that mining district to "clean out radical centers."

A number of independent mines in Colorado are reported to have started operations yesterday.

Gompers Says Gregory Did Agree Not to Use Lever Act Against Labor.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor reiterated last night his assertion that former Attorney-General Gregory had "given assurance" to the union leaders in 1917 that the Lever food and fuel act, under which the coal strike has been enjoined, would not be used against labor organizations. Referring to Gregory's denial of the assertion originally made by the executive council of the federation, Gompers said the former Attorney-General had gone into conference with the labor executives on the subject.

"At that conference with the Attorney-General in 1917 Mr. Gregory stated emphatically, speaking for himself and the Government," Gompers declared, "that the provisions of the Lever act would not be applied to workers and that he would write to the United States District Attorneys that they, too, should be governed by that assurance. Whether Mr. Gregory carried out his pledge to write his subordinates I am not in a position to say, but that he gave that assurance that he would do so there is absolutely no question."

Miners, Speaking Russian and Italian, Refuse to Work.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 14.—At a mass meeting at Star City, near here yesterday, more than 500 miners voted unanimously not to return to work, regardless of orders of the international union. Agents of the Department of Justice, investigating activities of radicals in this region, attended the meeting.

Only the Russian and Italian languages were used during the session.

Families Without Coal Admitted to Hospital.

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 14.—Local Fuel Administrator John H. McIninch said today that there were 2500 families in Butte where coal was needed. The county is admitting families to the county hospital to relieve distress because of the fuel shortage. The T. M. C. A. offered its buildings for the use of families without fuel.

ENFORCED UNEMPLOYMENT WHEN MINES SHUT DOWN MAKES MINERS' LOT HARD

Its Effect Shown in Homes Visited by Reporter in Mining Communities of Southern Illinois.

In order to learn what the wages, working conditions and living conditions of the coal mine workers actually are, a Post-Dispatch reporter has made a survey of several mining communities in Southern Illinois where the facts may be taken as typical of those existing in the mining industry generally.

To one entering the mining districts, the outstanding fact is that the worst part of the mine workers' lot is the enforced unemployment which results when the operators close down the mines. One hears this on every hand—from the workers themselves, their wives, and from the storekeepers who have to extend them credit through these recurring periods of idleness. When the miner doesn't work, he isn't paid.

Figures compiled by the Department of Mines and Minerals of Illinois tell the story. In 1914-15-16, the three years preceding our entry into the war, the average number of days worked by the men was 180.1 days a year. The average earnings for the three years were $653.30 a year each, or $12.57 a week, according to the annual reports of the Department, made to the Governor. Deducting Sundays and holidays, there are more than 300 work days in the year. So it is seen that the mine workers were idle an average of more than 1.0 days a year, or four months.

War Conditions Better.

With the declaration of war, conditions improved somewhat, the report shows. More coal was produced and thousands of miners entered service. In 1917, the average number of days worked was 215, and the average earnings were $739.45 a year or $13.97 a week, for men working in mines equipped with machines, and $436.34 a year, or $16.27 a week, for workers in "hand" mines, an average for the two classes of $539.45 a year or $10.39 a week, for the period of unemployment of about two and a half months for the year. Even in 1918, which was the "red letter" year of the industry, the average number of days worked, according to the report, was 230, leaving a period of idleness averaging more than two months for each man.

While official statistics for for 1919 have not been compiled, figures obtained by the reporter show various mines show the largest that followed the signing of the armistice. The Donk Bros. mine at Maryville is considered one of the best mines in which to work in the State. It runs more than the average mine. From the signing of the armistice to the anniversary, Tuesday, the mine was in operation 134 days and six hours, or less than half the time. And this total includes 24 days worked in October, when all the mines were run full time because of the impending strike.

Average 62 Cents a Day.

At the miners' headquarters in Collinsville it was stated that Mine No. 17 of the Consolidated Coal Co., employing 450 men, ran 57 days between the signing of the armistice and Oct. 1. The average earnings of the men for that period was 62 cents a day, it was said. Moreover, it was declared, this was about the same as in the three other mines there. One of the Lumaghi mines there was shut down completely from Jan. 27 until June, and then the other Lumaghi mine closed for six weeks, it was said. The Donk Bros. mine there was closed about five months of this year, workers said. An official of the union at Collinsville asserted that the 1600 miners living there less than 50 of those with families had earned an amount equal to their grocery bills in the last year.

Many stories are told by the operators and other of miners making $10 to $15 a day. The largest wages are made by men who run electric cutting machines. One of these was pointed out to the reporter as a "crack" machine runner.

"Sure, I can make over $10 a day, when I work—but how often do I get to work?" he replied to a question. "In the last year I haven't made $700. A man can't work when the mine is shut down."

It is the custom when the quitting whistle is blown to give three blasts if the mine is to be closed, and one blast if it is to be closed.

Listen for Whistle. "You ought to see these fellows 'cough their cars for that whistle," said one miner. "They listen like a dog listens to its master. If she blows three times, you'll see them smile. If there is only one toot, then you'll see them kind of drop their heads, and gather up their tools."

The wages paid range from $2.55 a day, which is paid to "trappers"—boys 16 or 17 years old—to the rate paid to the miners. The men who cut or dig the coal and those who load it into cars are paid by the ton. Other workers such as cagers, drivers, timbermen, helpers, and others are paid by the day. All these are members of the United Mine Workers, and their wage and hour scale is the subject of the present controversy.

Miners have repeatedly declared that the 5-day week and the 6-hour day for which they are asking is not to shorten their working time, but to force the operators to give them steady employment, by distributing the work over the year.

From all this it appears that, while the mine worker gets a wage that might not seem so low, he is forced to remain idle from a third to a half of the year. In normal years, and thereby suffers a loss which, in the years 1914-15-16 reduced his wage to an average of less than $2.50 a day.

Regular Wages Sought. "Talk about $15 a day for miners!" exclaimed James Mason, secretary of the Collinsville branch of the United Mine Workers. "Give these guys $3.50 a day, and guarantee them that they'll draw it regularly every week in the year, and they would jump at it."

Another effect of the uncertainty is to make the miners regard the whole business as a sort of a gamble. "It's like this," said an official. "When they have worked steady about two weeks they begin to feel that the mine is finally coming their way, and they spend their money as fast as they get it—if they have any left after they pay their debts. Then the work shuts down and they haven't saved anything, and they are not making anything."

"Then you'll find spendthrifts and drunkards in this trade, just as in every other one. A fellow may work steady for two weeks and draw what we call a 'good pay.' He says, 'God knows when I'll have any other good one, and I might as well have a good time for once, if I'm broke the rest of my life.' That's human nature. Whereas, if a fellow knew just how much he was going to make every month he could figure ahead."

Having in mind the stories of mine workers owning automobiles, player-pianos and like luxuries, the reporter visited a number of homes, selected at random, and without any previous knowledge of the conditions. The first one proved to be a saloon building that had been converted into a dwelling. It had five rooms. The rent was $10 a month. It was occupied by the miner, his wife and their six children.

House Was Cold.

The man was busy putting up a stove. It was cold, and there was no fire in the house. "Till I get anything I can, if you'll put it in the paper straight," he said. "It looks like the papers won't tell the truth about us. They've called us Bolsheviks and I. W. W. and anarchists because we are trying to get enough to live on."

"Am I a Bolshevik because I want enough money to buy my kids shoes so they can go to school?" he demanded. "There's nothing at home right now because they are barefooted, and I'm not working. As soon as my three daughters were old enough I had to let them go into a shoe factory in St. Louis because I couldn't make enough to support them."

His wife sat in a corner, rocking a small baby that was wrapped in an old coat. "Yes," she said, in a monotone, "I wanted Margaret to go to high school. She was the only one that graduated from the grammar school, and we thought we could let her go, but we had to put her in the factory."

The reporter asked the woman when she had bought a dress. "My boy bought me one with the money he got when he came out of the army," she said. "That was the first one I had got in eight years. I don't know when I'll ever get another one," she added, without emotion.

"I've been in the mines since I was 11 years old," resumed the man. "That's 37 years. I never drank or gambled, and I always worked when I could."

"Yes, and tell him what you've got for all of it," said the woman. The miner dropped his head.

"I owe $300 at the grocery store," he said.

At the next house visited, the miner and his wife proved to have a family of 10 children, one of whom, a daughter, however, had married, and lived next door. This was the home of John Latimer, at Maryville. The house was one of the company frame houses, containing four rooms and a shanty lean-to. There were two beds and two dilapidated couches. The kitchen was also a dining room, in addition to containing one of the couches, on which three of the children slept.

The reporter suggested that doctor bills for such a family probably amounted to a good deal. "No, I mostly doctor them myself," said the woman. "We can't afford to pay money for doctors. We have to eat. There's little enough of that."

In her arms she carried a baby or whose feet, in lieu of shoes, were a pair of stockings tied, stuffed with rags to keep the baby's feet warm. "Sure, we live like a lot of hogs," exclaimed Latimer. "Do you think I want my kids to go ragged and hungry like that?" and he pointed to a small girl with enlaced shoes nor stockings, and a thin, frayed gingham frock.

"They threatened to prosecute me if I didn't send them to school. The work was shut down. I went to the co-operative store and got stumped money to buy them some secondhand shoes so they wouldn't put me in jail. Look at the old woman. She hasn't had a dress since I can remember. When did you buy a dress?"

"I got a new skirt three years ago—that's the last thing I got," she said. Carries Fuel in Bucket. "They talk about us having automobiles," he continued. "Automobile, hell! I wish I could get enough money to buy a wheelbarrow to bring coal from the mine up to the house, instead of carrying a bucket at a time."

"I was sick two months. Then I got a few days in. When I got my pay, they had taken out the $18 for the two months' rent. When they took out for my union dues I had about $8 left. If it wasn't for the co-operative we'd have starved to death. And we might as well be dead if we don't win this strike," he added.

The co-operative stores are operated by a society composed of labor unions throughout the State, largely mine workers' unions, and they sell to the workers at cost.

From figures obtained at the mine the reporter ascertained that if Latimer had worked every day that the mine was in operation in the last year he could have earned a total of $640, or $12.39 a week.

"Chinatown," as this group of company houses is called, contains 20 such dwellings, renting at $3 a month, which is deducted from the miners' pay. There is no running water in them. The 20 are supplied from two pumps. The woman living farthest from the well is more unfortunate, because all water for washing must be carried from the pumps, regardless of the condition of her health.

At another home there were six children, one of them a grown son who worked in the mine. The miner said that the son had contributed every cent he earned to the upkeep of the house. Despite this, the miner had been compelled to sell $150 of the $300 in Liberty Bonds which he bought during the war, and had also drawn $100 from his savings. He was one of the few who didn't owe a bill at the co-operative store.

The next family visited came here

16 years ago from Scotland. The miner and his wife spoke with a burr as delightful as Harry Lauder's. "I wish we were back in the old country," said the woman. "My man, he only made two pounds ($10) a week, but things were cheap, and we always saved enough to take a two-weeks holiday at a hotel in Ireland every summer. Now I can't get enough to go to St. Louis."

Debt Prevents Departure. "My cousins, they send me pictures of their children, and bless you, sir, I haven't enough money to have pictures taken of my own wee ones to send back. If we only could pinch enough to get money to get to Canada, it is better there. But we can't leave owing the co-operative, when it's been so good to us."

The reporter inquired how her four small children were getting on. "I get a quart every day," she said. And then: "Drink it? Why, sir, they don't drink it. That's for their oats, and they have to be saving what's left enough to keep them warm. That's the worst bit of it."

The same condition, with varying features, was encountered in other homes. The chief difference seemed to be the amount of the unpaid grocery bill. Where there was one or two children, it was usually about $50, ranging up to more than $300 where the families were large. A union official in St. Clair County, pointed out as being "a successful miner," admitted owning the four-room frame house in which he lived, and having $500 in Liberty Bonds. "I only have two children, and I haven't spent a cent for 20 years that I didn't have to. That's how I did it," he said.

Those appearing to be in the best circumstances were mine workers who had saved enough to buy a few acres of ground. They cultivated this in the summer, when work is slack, and sell and use the produce, thereby obtaining a tolerable living. But out as being "a successful miner," as one expressed it, "to catch up at the co-operative."

WOMEN FORCE LAWYER TO SEEK REFUGE IN JUDGE'S CHAMBERS

Plaintiff in $40,000 Suit and Compulsion Denounce Company Attorney in Circuit Court.

Mrs. Leona Crane, 2957 A Shaw avenue, and another woman became excited yesterday when Circuit Judge Hall sustained a demurrer in the $40,000 damage suit of Mrs. Crane against the Terminal Railroad Association and made a verbal attack upon Walter M. Hezel, attorney for the defendant association. They were quieted after the lawyer sought refuge in the Judge's chambers.

The plaintiff was suing on account of the death of her husband, Henry C. Crane, a Terminal switchman, who was killed Nov. 6, 1918, when he was swept off a box car by a girder as the car was passing under the Twenty-first street viaduct. Attorney Hezel filed a demurrer after the plaintiff had introduced her evidence and contented that the defendant was not liable.

The Court sustained the motion, and when recess was ordered, Mrs. Crane and her companion, Cora Hezel, and denounced him. He explained to them that he regretted Crane's death as much as any one, and that $1000 had been offered in settlement, but the offer was not accepted. The contention of the plaintiff's lawyer was that the Terminal was negligent in failing to provide signals to warn Crane of the danger of the viaduct.

LAND FOR OIL DRILLING LEASED

Company Formed to Bore in North-eastern Missouri Counties.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HANNIBAL, Mo., Nov. 14.—More than 4000 acres of land in Pike, Ralls and Marion Counties have been leased for oil drilling. So far the proposition is merely in a tentative stage.

Several Oklahoma and Kansas oil promoters have been attracted to this country by the prospect of oil. The company, headed by A. G. Croll, an official of the Atlas Portland Cement Co., and composed chiefly of members of the cement company, have had a derrick erected, and just as soon as the machinery arrives the work of boring will be started.

The Tipton Petroleum Co., composed chiefly of Hannibal men, and owning five producing wells in Kansas and Oklahoma, leased more than 4000 acres of land in and around the scene where drilling will be started.

W. H. Williams of Tulsa, Ok., geological expert, is said to be improving with the geological formations here and near Frankford.

FOUR ANGLES IN DIVORCE SUIT

Marie Broach, nee Walmaley, of 1205 North Fifteenth street, an employee of the Western Union Telegraph Co., today was granted a divorce from George L. Broach, electrician in a local theater, and business agent for the Motion Picture Operators' Union.

Broach, during the war, was in charge of the local navy recruiting office. Mrs. Broach named a co-respondent, and said that information was furnished by the other woman, in a spirit of revenge, because Broach, a company with a third woman, passed her on the street without noticing her.

She went to the office where Mrs. Broach is employed, and after telling her story, both women went to Grant City, where Broach was employed, and "faced" him. She said he did not deny the truth of the other woman's statements. Broach did not contest the suit.

40 PER CENT NET INCREASE IN METHODIST MINISTERS' PAY

Establishment of "Minimum Salaries" Throughout Country Also Announced.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—An average increase of 40 per cent in the salaries of Methodist ministers throughout the country to meet the mounting cost of living and establishment of "minimum salaries" were announced today by the Centenary Conservation Committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church here. The new scale of pay will be in effect generally by Jan. 1, it was stated.

The fund raised for the world program of the Centenary Conservation Committee will provide the money for the salary increases. Those ministers whose pay has been increased by their congregations to a sufficient amount will receive no added remuneration from the church organization, the bulk of the increases being for those whose salaries have remained unchanged at low figures.

The average salary for Methodist ministers was $1111 in 1913. The new average will be approximately $1500.

RUMANIA READY TO SIGN TREATY

Telegram, However, Reaches Paris Just After Supreme Council Closed.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—According to the Presse de Paris the session of the supreme council had just closed yesterday when Victor Antonescu, Rumanian Minister to France, and Gen. Comand, former Premier of Rumania, transmitted to the French Foreign Office a telegram from the Rumanian Government.

The telegram, says the newspaper, announced that Rumania had decided to sign in its entirety the treaty of St. Germain (the Austrian treaty) without enforcing reservations on the article concerning minorities, but would demand an understanding with the parties to the compact as to a friendly spirit in the application of this article. The council was unable to deliberate on the communication.

The Bulgarian peace delegation has sent an official note to Paul Dutasta, secretary of the peace conference, announcing that Bulgaria is prepared to sign the peace treaty. It is probable that the arrival of M. Stambulsky, the Bulgarian Premier, who is on his way to Paris from Sofia, will be awaited before the compact is signed.

CONFERENCE ON DEMANDS OF BROTHERHOODS NEAR

Question of Time and Half for Over-time Chief Item Still in Dispute.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Conferees for discussion of the demands of the four railroad brotherhoods for the revision of working conditions, which have been in progress between the brotherhood chiefs and Director-General Hines all week, appear today to be nearing an end. Railroad Administration officials believe all arguments will be completed within 24 hours. There was no indication, however, whether Hines would give an immediate answer or reserve his decision.

The principal question remaining in dispute is the demand for the revision of working conditions, which have been in progress between the brotherhood chiefs and Director-General Hines all week, appear today to be nearing an end. Railroad Administration officials believe all arguments will be completed within 24 hours. There was no indication, however, whether Hines would give an immediate answer or reserve his decision.

Questions of wages, which at first were not involved in the direct demands, were said to have cropped up in recent sessions and were brought in again today. Hines was said to have stood steadfastly by his previous declaration that no general advance in wages could be given, however, consideration owing to the imminent return of the roads to private operation.

How are the Boiler Tubes?

The chief cause of a locomotive's inefficiency is the clogging of the tubes of its boiler. When clogged its "pull" is reduced by a quarter—sometimes by a half!

Just so with the body. The cause of probably nine-tenths of our ills begins with the bowel. We put all sorts of improper food combinations into it through the stomach. The bowel clogs up. Then it files its objections in a "bilious headache"—or "sallow complexion"—or "bad breath"; and later it develops perhaps rheumatism, or kidney or liver trouble, and other diseases.

But if one habitually drinks an abundance of water and occasionally cleans out these human boiler tubes with Salinas (a "salt"—Nature's own remedy), all these ills are avoided.

SALINAS

is a scientific combination of efficacious salts. It is pleasant to take. It's safe. It's an effervescent laxative or cathartic—according to quantity taken. Salinas becomes indispensible when once it is known. Try it and know it. You'll like Salinas!

Salinas has the endorsement of thousands of physicians who prescribe it. It comes in 25c, 50c and $1.00 sizes. Your own druggist undoubtedly keeps it. Ask him to send you a 50c bottle. Keep it always on hand. Its results are truly remarkable.

SENATE ADOPTS RESERVATION TO ARTICLE 10, 46-33

Committee Clause That President Termed a Rejection of Treaty Approved Without Amendment.

VOTE TOMORROW ON CLOTURE PETITION

Republicans Present Request for Limit on Debate—Hitchcock Offers Five Reservations.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The Foreign Relations Committee's reservation to article 19 of the league of nations covenant stands today in the Senate as a part of the pact in face of President Wilson's declaration that it would cut the heart out of the covenant. The reservation, which has caused exhaustive debate in the Senate, was adopted late yesterday by a vote of 41 to 33 in the exact form in which it came from the committee. Four Democrats joined the Republicans in voting to adopt the reservation, while the opposition was composed entirely of Democrats.

The Senate is in adjournment today on account of the funeral of Senator Martin of Charlottesville, Va., but tomorrow a vote will be called on the proposal presented by Republican Leader Lodge to invoke the cloture rule to limit debate on the whole treaty subject. The Democrats are undecided today as to what action they would take on the proposal as they fear it would prevent them from obtaining action on their own ratification resolution. They are expected to press for adoption the Democrats' plan to limit debate only on the reservation.

Text of the Reservation.
The article 10 reservation as adopted by the Senate follows:

The United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country, or to interfere with controversies between nations—whether members of the league or not—under the provisions of article 10, or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States under any article of the treaty for any purpose, unless in any particular case the Congress, which under the Constitution has the sole power to declare war or authorize the employment of the military or naval forces of the United States, shall by act or joint resolution so provide.

In only two particulars does this language differ from the proposed reservation which the President declared at Cheyenne, Wyo., he would be obliged to regard as a rejection. As read by Mr. Wilson the phrase "under the provisions of article 10" occurred at a different place, and the final word "provide" was changed to "declare."

The roll call on adoption of the reservation followed reservations when the point was raised that it might otherwise defeat the Democratic plan to vote down the committee's ratification reservation, and then offer one acceptable to the administration. Senator Norris objected that the

Against adoption—Democrats: Ashurst, Beckham, Dial, Fletcher, Gay, Gerry, Harris, Harrison, Henderson, Hitchcock, Johnson (S. D.), Jones (N. M.), Kendrick, Kirby, McKellar, Myers, Nugent, Overman, Owen, Phelan, Pittman, Ransdell, Robinson, Shepard, Smith (Id.), Smith (S. C.), Stanley, Thomas, Trammell, Underwood, Walsh (Mont.), Williams and Wolcott—Total, 33. Total against, 33.

Sixteen Senators not voting were paired as follows: For adoption—Jones (Wash.), Kellogg, Knox, McCormick, Nelson, Newberry and Wade—Total, 6. Republicans: Shields, Democrat. Against—Bankhead, Chamberlain, Culberson, King, Pomeroy, Simmons, Swanson and Smith (Ark.), Democrats. One vacancy in Virginia.

Hitchcock Offers Reservations.
The administration forces fought stubbornly through the day and into the evening to obtain some modification of the committee reservation, but to all of their proposals the united Republican organization remained adamant. Finally forced to yield, Democratic Leader Hitchcock put into the Senate hopper a set of five reservations on which he will ask for a vote later as a substitute for the committee program. The reservations cover withdrawal, the Monroe Doctrine, article 10, domestic questions and voting equality in the league.

A sharp parliamentary battle was forced by the Democratic cloture proposal, which had been drafted at a morning conference of Democrats. The original plan was to propose a cloture on the treaty itself, but it was decided to confine it to the committee's reservations when the point was raised that it might otherwise defeat the Democratic plan to vote down the committee's ratification reservation, and then offer one acceptable to the administration. Senator Norris objected that the

BRIDE DENIES SHE IS 71, SAYS SHE'S ONLY 70

Her Honeymoon Here With Husband, 49, Interrupted by Policeman at Son-in-Law's Request.

The unusual romance of Mrs. Minnie Offen, a wealthy widow, 70 years old, and Joseph Montgomery, 49, a horseman, both of Terre Haute, Ind., who eloped and were married Nov. 4 at Mexico, Mo., was revealed last night when they were arrested at a rooming house at 1424 Olive street, where they had been spending their honeymoon. The arrest was ordered by the bride's son-in-law, Frank M. Brown, a retired grocer, who, until shown a marriage certificate, did not believe the couple had been married.

Mrs. Montgomery and her husband expressed indignation when taken to police headquarters at what they termed interference in their private affairs. Brown asked his mother-in-law if she would return to Terre Haute with him and she turned upon him in rage.

Couple Released at Once.
"Well, I should say not," she replied emphatically. "I would rather die here than go back with you." The couple were released upon presentation of their marriage certificate. "This is nothing but a fight for my money," said Mrs. Montgomery, in relating her romance to a Post-Dispatch reporter today. "I have an estate valued at more than $100,000, and my four children—three sons and a daughter, all married—are trying to get it. Part of it was owned jointly by my first husband and myself prior to his death March 28 last, but most of it always has been in my own name."

"I had never met Mr. Montgomery until my husband died. He had a blacksmith shop across the alley from my husband's saloon and he sat up with the body. It was a case of love at first sight. He came to see me every day and when he saw how my children were after my property he sympathized with me."

"Several weeks ago my children filed a suit to have me declared incapable of managing my affairs. I took a change of venue from Terre Haute to Rockville, Ind. Then Mr. Montgomery asked me to marry him. I turned my financial affairs over to a real estate concern and we eloped."

Marriage of Love.
"Now, I know my children will say that this marriage was entered into simply to defeat their suit against me, but I want to say that this is a marriage of love and nothing else. The bride looked at Montgomery and he nodded corroboratorily. "That's the truth," he said. "I'd rather marry an old woman than a young one any time. You can't hold a young woman."

"Why, in the 45½ years that I was married to Offen I did nothing but love him," said the bride, in resuming her story. "He would not let me go to church or look at a parade. He was selfish. He believed in having a good time himself, but he did not want me to enjoy life. The only other time that I was ever away from Terre Haute, and I landed there at the age of 19 from Hanover, Germany, was when I went to Palestine, Ill., many years ago to nurse a relative who was down with typhoid."

"This is the first time I have ever been to a large city. In the nine days that we have been here we have taken in two picture shows and one afternoon we had a fine time looking at the Mississippi River. "My children are not interested in my welfare. It is my property that concerns them. I offered to divide a $50,000 farm between them, but they were not satisfied. They wanted it all. They have lied about me something awful. My son-in-law, Brown, told the police that I was 71 years old, and I am only 70."

"I have 100 acres of land and four houses in Whitcomb Heights, a suburb of Terre Haute, and 18 houses in Terre Haute," she said. "One of the pieces of land is a 40-acre farm which I offered to divide among the children. I do not know what my income amounts to, as I have been spending much lately in having the houses repaired."

The morning exhibition of the bride and groom was interrupted by a letter he had just received from her lawyers, Walker and Blankenbaker of Terre Haute, congratulating them upon their marriage. But the bride and groom were not to be disturbed by the proceedings instituted by the children who were dropped.

Are Light Housekeeping.
Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery are light housekeeping on the third floor of the Olive street address. They excused the appearance of the room when a reporter called on them saying that they were just preparing breakfast. Butter and eggs were on a table. Montgomery said that he had been "batching" for so many years that it pleased him greatly to have a wife who could cook. He said that he had tired of his own cooking and mending, and pointed to a lot of shirts in a grip which he said his bride had been sewing for him. He said he was married about 25 years ago, but his first wife was so frivolous that he divorced her.

Mrs. Montgomery, discussing an assertion of Brown to the police that she had altered an inscription on her first husband's tombstone to make it appear that he had died in March, 1918, instead of March, 1919, said: "That's another of his lies. If such a mistake was made the man who chiseled the plate was responsible. I placed flowers on my husband's grave every day and I never noticed the error."

Montgomery said that he and his bride would remain in St. Louis. He said that he did not expect to find work here at his trade of horsehoeing, because he had not seen many horses here in the streets. "Everything here in vehicles is motorized," he said, "but I understand carriage building and perhaps can find work in that line."

FOREIGN TRADE CLUB MAY BE ORGANIZED HERE BY C. OF C.

A foreign trade club, to which members or employees of firms engaged in foreign trade will be eligible, soon will be organized by the Foreign Trade Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, according to Ernest Cramer, chairman. In a speech yesterday before the Sales Managers' Bureau of the Chamber in the American Annex, The purpose of the club was to offer interested persons an inexpensive organization in which they can discuss the problems of new trade fields.

Cramer said that there now are 600 manufacturers in the St. Louis industrial district either engaged in foreign trade or seeking it. He declared that American investment in the securities of the Latin-American countries was necessary if the United States is to retain the proportion of the trade after the war that accrued to it during the war.

CHARLES P. JOHNSON AND WIFE SEPARATED

Noted Lawyer's Suit to Replevin Personal Property Discloses Differences.

The separation of Charles P. Johnson, 32 years old, noted criminal lawyer and former Lieutenant Governor of Missouri, and his wife, Anne Andre Johnson, 47, was made public today by the filing of a replevin suit, in which Johnson charges that his wife is unlawfully keeping from him articles of personal property in her home, 4309 Washington boulevard. These articles include his large library and valuable art objects.

Johnson has lived since a week ago yesterday at the home of his son, Albert W. Johnson, a lawyer, at 4033 De Tonty street. He is still suffering from the effects of a street car accident last March, and walks with the aid of crutches.

He said to a Post-Dispatch reporter this morning that he would say nothing, at present, as to his differences with his wife. He was represented in the replevin suit by H. A. Roskopf.

The suit states that, since Nov. 6, Mrs. Johnson has been in possession of articles of furniture and personal use, valued at $2500, and has withheld them unlawfully from him. He asks for their recovery, and $250 damages. The latter request is a matter of form, and is customary in such cases.

Circuit Judge Calhoun issued an order of delivery, and required Johnson to provide a replevin bond.

Deputy at House.
Mrs. Johnson expressed surprise when two deputies from the Sheriff's office served the writ of replevin on her at 11:30 a. m. She scanned the list of articles, which covered three typewritten pages, and said that some of the articles mentioned belonged to her individually. With her consent, one of the deputies remained at the house to see that nothing was removed.

Mrs. Johnson said her husband had contemplated disposing of his home and household effects. She said this could not be done, as there were incumbrances on the property. She said she would combat the replevin proceedings in court, as she believed outstanding obligations should be settled before the property is otherwise disposed of.

Painting of Mother on List.

It was learned that one of the objects about which Johnson was most solicitous was a painting of his mother, by Conant, a noted artist. He also was apprehensive, it was learned, as to the care and preservation of his library, which is one of the largest private collections in the city, and includes rare editions and fine bindings. In addition to the large library of a general literary character, he has many books on law and criminology at his home.

Mrs. Johnson is a lawyer, having been admitted to the bar, and for several years acted as her husband's office assistant.

She is Johnson's third wife. They were married 11 years ago by Circuit Judge Rife, in his office at the Courthouse.

Ten days before her marriage to Johnson she had been divorced, at St. Genevieve, Mo., from Andrew Wilder of St. Genevieve. She was the daughter of Dr. M. Andre, a St. Genevieve physician, and was a cousin of the late Dr. A. C. Bernays at the time of the marriage Johnson formally adopted his wife's three children, Bernays, Carol and Andre.

Mrs. Johnson has written a number of newspaper and magazine articles, particularly on prison reform. She published, several years ago, a book entitled "Notable Women of St. Louis," containing 65 short biographical sketches.

CAMPAIGN ON IN INTEREST OF ACTORS' FUND BENEFIT

Tank Parades and Airplane Flights to Call Attention to Performances Here Dec. 5.

Tank parades, airplane flights and other features will be utilized to create interest in the actors' fund benefit performances at leading theaters on Friday afternoon, Dec. 5. The baby tank used in the Liberty Loan, Red Cross and other war activities' campaigns, will parade over the downtown streets tomorrow at noon, carrying Miss Norma Brown and Miss Loretta Marks of the "Going-Up" company, who will distribute literature concerning the fund. An airplane, with Mrs. A. Moll of the Y. M. C. A. war welfare workers as passenger, will follow the course of the tank and bombardier with actors' fund literature. Arrangements are in charge of Y. M. C. A. workers, who will act as host to the entire "Going-Up" company at a breakfast at the Y. M. C. A. hut tomorrow.

Mayor Kiel, Festus J. Wade, August A. Busch, A. L. Shapleigh, Aaron Fuller, Walter Donaldson, Max Koenigsberg, Mrs. Elizabeth Guerry, Miss Sarah Wolf, Miss Marian Francis and her Velled Prophet maids of honor, Mrs. Julius Walsh and others, will attend a luncheon tomorrow at Hotel Stadel, when complete arrangements for a canvass of the city for contributions and plans for the sale of tickets will be made.

EVERETT W. PATTISON, LAWYER, DIES AT HOME

80-Year-Old Attorney, Who Came to St. Louis in 1865, Succumbs to Pneumonia.

Everett W. Pattison, 80 years old, long prominent in the practice of law at St. Louis, died of pneumonia at his home, 4254 Olive street, at 3 a. m. today. He had been ill about three weeks.

He came to St. Louis in 1865, after rising from private to Captain in the Civil War, and practiced law actively here until 1888, when he terminated a partnership with R. Newton Crane, now a leading member of the London bar. Since 1888 Pattison had devoted much of his time to writing law books and had been associated as counselor with Percy Werner, a St. Louis attorney. His wife, Mrs. Alice M. G. Pattison, has achieved a reputation as an art critic. There are no children.

In his later years Pattison was best known to lawyers through his Digest of Missouri Decisions, said to be the best work of its kind on Missouri law. He also wrote works on Missouri Code Pleadings and on Criminal Instructions and contributed articles to encyclopedias and law journals.

He was born in Waterville, Me., Feb. 22, 1839, and was graduated at Waterville (now Colby) College in 1858. He enlisted as a private in the Second Massachusetts Infantry in 1861 and as private and officer he fought in several important Civil War battles. He was a member of the Missouri Commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion and of Ransom Post, G. A. R.

The funeral will be from the Wagner chapel, 3621 Olive street, at 10 a. m. Sunday.

BROTHERHOOD CONVENTION ENDS

The United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railroad Shop Laborers, which finished a three-day convention last evening at the Marquette Hotel, decided to establish an employment bureau here to supply workmen to the railroads, but especially to cure for its own unemployed members. Resolutions were adopted endorsing the Plumb plan for nationalization of the railroads and condemning the Federal Court injunction against the striking miners.

Five hundred locals with an aggregate membership of approximately 150,000 men were represented.

POLICE ALLOW SALOONS IN PROVIDENCE TO OPEN

Decide Not to Seek Evidence of Sales of 4-Per-Cent Beverages.

By the Associated Press.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 14.—The Police Commission decided today to act under the preliminary injunction granted by Federal Judge Arthur Brown against enforcement of the war-time prohibition act and to allow the saloons to sell malt beverages containing not more than 4 per cent alcohol without interference. This attitude was taken upon advice of the City Solicitor.

The commission announced that while the police department would not gather any evidence of sales, the dealers would have to assume all responsibility. Upon the announcement of the commission's decision nearly all the saloons opened again today.

In Pawtucket many liquor dealers were openly selling 4-per-cent beer. Following the entering of the decree, Judge Brown refused to grant a supersedeas, which would have acted as a stay to the enforcement of the order putting the injunction into effect.

United States District Attorney Harvey A. Baker announced that he would take an appeal to the United States Court of Appeals in Boston Tuesday. Before an appeal from Judge Brown's decision can be heard by the Circuit Court in Boston it is probable that the whole question of the constitutionality of the war prohibition act will have been argued before the Supreme Court in Washington.

Whisky in Louisville Sells Rapidly at $75 a Case.

By the Associated Press.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 14.—Two Louisville distilleries sold whisky openly in Louisville today at $75 a case, regardless of the war-time prohibition law. Hundreds of orders, filed before July 1, when the war-time law went into effect, it was said, are being filled by these distilleries, which resumed sales following the granting of an injunction to them yesterday by Federal Judge Evans restraining the Government from interfering with the sale of nearly a million gallons of "floor stock" whisky.

Wright & Taylor and the Brown-Forman companies, which received the temporary injunctions, expect to sell all of their whisky in a hurry. They made their sales, however, with the knowledge of that they are liable to prosecution, according to District Attorney W. V. Gregory. If the Federal Supreme Court reverses Judge Evans in a decision it is expected to make Nov. 20.

Other Kentucky distillers apparently were dissuaded not to ask for injunctions. Their whisky stocks are said to approximate 40,000,000 gallons.

The case before the Supreme Court was appealed to it by the Government from a previous decision by Judge Evans, who held both the war-time law and the enforcement acts were unconstitutional.

Decisions Cause No Change in Plans for Enforcement.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Attorney-General Palmer's position with respect to enforcement of wartime prohibition has been altered in no way by court decisions in Rhode Island and Kentucky. It is officially stated at the Department of Justice. The Government's contention that the wartime law is valid. It was added, will be vigorously defended until final decision has been handed down by the Supreme Court of the United States.

While enforcement of the law is stopped in the two States, United States District Attorneys, acting on prior instructions, will proceed with prosecutions of violators in other communities, officials declared.

Department officials differed as to the results of the injunction. Some held that during the life of the re-prevent open sale of all intoxicants, as covered by the order. Others did not agree with this belief.

With regard to the effect on the constitutional amendment by the Ohio referendum overturning the Legislature's action, the Attorney-General's view was said to be that action by the Ohio electorate would not change the date on which the prohibition amendment to the Constitution goes into effect. Until the number of states ratifying the amendment falls below 36 the department will not concern itself with the changes in their identity, according to the opinion expressed by the officials of Palmer's staff.

COUNTY COURTS AND STATE ROAD BOARD COMPROMISE

Agreement Reached at Conference at Jefferson City Affecting Four Proposed Improvements.

A settlement of the controversy between the State Highway Board and the county court of St. Louis County over the method of construction of the St. Charles, Manchester, Gravois and Lemay Ferry roads was reached yesterday at a conference of the Board and Court in Jefferson City in accordance with the proposed compromise plan outlined in the Post-Dispatch last Tuesday.

The Board's original plan for 20-foot roadways was changed to provide 18-foot roadways, except on the portions of the roads close to the city. Some brick specifications were eliminated, and concrete construction substituted, except on steep hills, which will be paved with brick.

Under the compromise plan approximately $2,150,000 will be expended on the two roads, of which the county will pay $1,125,000 and the remainder will be paid from the Federal aid road fund.

About 10 Miles Out Off.

In addition to lessening the width of the roads, the new plan cuts off hard road construction for seven miles of the Manchester road and nearly four miles on the Gravois road. The County Court agreed to maintain these stretches of road well graded and in good condition until such time as the court found available funds for permanent construction.

As finally approved by the County Court, the construction will be: St. Charles road—One-half mile from the city limits, concrete or bituthite, 20 feet wide; 1-10ths of a mile, brick, 20 feet wide; 11-4-10ths miles, concrete, 18 feet wide. Manchester road—Two and 8-10ths mile from the city limits, concrete, 20 feet wide; 14 miles, concrete, 18 feet wide; Solomon hill to be paved with brick.

Gravois road—Five miles from Webster road to Kennerly avenue, concrete with brick on steep hills, 20 feet wide; one mile, brick, 18 feet wide.

Lemay Ferry road—Seven and one-tenth miles to Jefferson County line; concrete, 18 feet wide.

Final Approval Almost Certain.

Final approval of the plans awaits action by the Federal Roads Bureau, but this is considered certain, as they were worked out by Federal engineers with State Highway Engineer Graham and County Highway Engineer Elbring.

As finally agreed upon, the county expenditure will be about $300,000 more than the county at first proposed to spend on the four roads. The expenditure of $1,000,000 from the Federal aid will be approximately the amount the State Highway Board agreed to appropriate for the roads after arguments were presented to the effect that the roads should be considered as St. Louis termini for the extensive state road system and should not be considered merely as State roads passing through St. Louis County.

The compromise leaves approximately $2,000,000 of the county's $3,000,000 road bond fund for improvement of less permanent type on other county roads.

YOUTH ACQUITTED OF COMPLICITY IN BECKER MURDER

John O'Brien, Charged With Murder in the First Degree, Was Third to Be Tried for the Crime.

John O'Brien, 19 years old, of 4121 Russell avenue, accused of complicity in the killing of Henry (Kid) Becker, professional gambler, April 14 last, was acquitted of first degree murder by a jury last night.

John Dougherty and Thomas Hunt, at recent trials, were found guilty of this murder and sentenced to life imprisonment, the maximum penalty. O'Brien is the first of the accused to be acquitted. A fourth man charged with complicity in the crime, Dent (Dick) Kammann, escaped and has never been captured.

The Becker murder, with robbery as its motive, was in front of his home at 3163 Russell avenue. The robbers took about $1500 from him after he had been mortally wounded.

O'Brien yesterday afternoon testified that he went with Kammann, Dougherty and Hunt to the vicinity of the Becker home the night of April 14, but did not know there was to be a robbery. He denied he was armed. He said he went into the alley in the rear of Becker's home and saw Kammann stop Elmer Dempsey, a chauffeur for one of Becker's neighbors, and heard Kammann ask Dempsey what time Becker usually came home. From the conversation, he said, he judged his three companions were not there for a good purpose and he decided to leave them.

O'Brien said he walked east on Russell avenue and north on Lafayette avenue and took a street car and was not near the Becker home when Becker was shot. Later that night, he said, he went to a party at Dougherty's home, 1804 Papin street, but heard nothing there about Becker having been shot, and did not hear of it until about two days later.

Confessions Contradicted.
This testimony was in flat contradiction of confessions made by Dougherty and Hunt after they were arrested. Dougherty said O'Brien was present when Becker was shot and afterwards met the other three by appointment in a saloon near Eighteenth and Papin streets and accepted his share of the money taken from Becker.

The State's only important witness was Dempsey, the chauffeur mentioned by O'Brien. He testified that when he drove into the alley a short time before the shooting he saw Kammann and O'Brien, both of whom he knew. Both Kammann and O'Brien, he said, had pistols in their hands.

At the Coroner's inquest Dempsey said he did not know and could not identify the men whom he saw in the alley. When asked about this at the O'Brien trial he said he refused to make identifications at the inquest because his life had been threatened. He testified that the night after the murder, as he was driving near Vandeventer avenue and Olive street, a man jumped on the running board of his machine and said: "I see you got your name in the papers. You keep your head shut or you'll be bumped off."

In support of O'Brien's statement that he did not use proceeds of the Becker robbery to go to Centralia, Wash., where he was captured, his mother testified that she advanced the money for his transportation and she exhibited her bank book in proof of this. She said her son did not depart from St. Louis to escape the consequences of a crime, but because an uncle at Centralia had offered employment.

NO "KICK" IN BRITISH WHISKY
Protest of Workmen Is Voiced by Member of Commons.
Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, Nov. 14.—The bitter cry of labor at the steadily diminishing kick in post-war whisky is voiced in a question to be asked of Food Controller Roberts by a Labor member from Leeds. He will inquire tearfully: "Whether, seeing that the foundation of whisky is malt, and if malt whisky is reduced below 35 per cent under proof, there is not enough alcohol therein to preserve the water; and it is reduced to 30 per cent under proof the water becomes stagnant and the whisky nauseous, we will have whisky raised to sanitary strength?" As the diminution of drunkenness and that of whisky strength have gone hand in hand the temperance people will fight any increase in whisky's alcoholic kick.

$10,000 VERDICT FOR MAN
JURY HEARS LIVING COST

Plaintiff Had Sued for That Amount for Eye Injury From Broken Glass.

A verdict for $10,000 was rendered by a jury in the Circuit Court today in favor of Charles Schmidt, 19 years old, 1215 W. 12th street, against the Steinwender Bottling and Importing Co., after plaintiff's lawyer, Edward W. Tel, had pleaded to the jury that under the high amount of living rising at the amount of the verdict. The evidence showed that Schmidt was injured Sept. 17, 1917, at the effect of broken glass from the bottom of one of the bottles. The bottom fell out of one of the bottles, causing severe injury to the eye. A piece of glass struck Schmidt in the eye. His attorney told the jury that prices had greatly advanced since the accident and that the verdict was based on the present cost of the jury retired and after considering the evidence returned a verdict for the full amount asked in the plaintiff's case.

Glass.

A verdict for $10,000 was returned by a jury in the Circuit Court yesterday in favor of Charles H. Schmidt, 19 years old, 1225 Wisconsin street, against the Steinwender Distilling and Importing Co., after the plaintiff's lawyer, Edward W. Forster, had pleaded to the jury to consider the high cost of living in arriving at the amount of the verdict. The evidence showed that Schmidt was injured Sept. 17, 1917, and lost 75 per cent of the sight of his right eye from the effect of broken glass. The plaintiff, who was an auto truck chauffeur, was standing near some bottles being transferred from one truck to another. The bottom fell out of one box containing bottles, causing several of them to break. A piece of broken glass struck Schmidt in the right eye. His attorney told the jury that price had greatly advanced since the accident and that the verdict should be based on the present cost of living. The jury retired and after considering the evidence returned a verdict for the full amount asked in the suit.

AUTO REPAIR MAN HELD FOR INSTIGATING THEFT

Former Employee, Now Under Arrest, Say He Paid for Accessories and Cars Brought In.

Edward Z. Linder, 30 years old, who lives at 5854 Theodosia avenue and conducts an automobile repair shop at 6805 Olive street road, today was arrested upon relation to the police by Irving Z. Holtkamp, 18 years old, a former employee of Linder, that Linder was the instigator and a gainer by the theft of two automobiles here and their exchange for other cars and cash in Decatur, Ill.

Edward A. Roesch, 19, 2630 Clara avenue, another former employee of Linder, has told the police that he participated, with Holtkamp, in the theft of one of the two cars and that Linder was to pay him $50 for his assistance but did not. He is under arrest.

Linder was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary last Friday, having been convicted, chiefly upon Holtkamp's testimony, that he had participated in the theft of another automobile. He was at liberty on an appeal bond. Both youths said it was Linder's practice to tell his employees that he would pay for any automobiles or accessories they brought in.

Holtkamp, with his mother, had moved recently to Decatur following threats made against Holtkamp for his testimony in Linder's trial. Holtkamp was arrested there yesterday when it was suspected that two cars which lately had appeared in that city were stolen cars. They proved to be the automobiles of Herbert Barthels, 3029 Longfellow boulevard, stolen on July 9, and Charles Hull, 3955A St. Louis avenue, stolen on Sept. 13. Holtkamp said he drove the cars to Decatur at the instruction of Linder. One, he said, he exchanged for another car and $250 cash. He said he gave Linder the $250 and sold the car he had received in exchange for $225.

The other, he said, he exchanged for another car and $265 cash, giving Linder the $265 and selling the car he received in the exchange for $100.

Holtkamp told his mother yesterday that he was going to St. Louis in the company of a man, whom he did not identify as an officer of the law and upon his departure, his mother began to fear that he was about to be harmed for his testimony against Linder or be prevented from further testifying.

Detective, Meets Train.

The St. Louis police were notified, James McCune, attached to the Page Boulevard Station, was one of the men assigned to meet the train Holtkamp was on at Washington avenue. He spied Holtkamp on the train as it stopped, and, entering the coach, with his revolver drawn, called: "Hands up."

"What for?" Albert Letter, the city detective in charge of Holtkamp inquired.

"What's your name?" McCune demanded of Letter.

"James McCune," Letter replied, and McCune lowered his weapon.

Six other detectives were at Union Station, but they recognized Letter immediately.

To drive out of the system impurities that keep you feeling miserable is good advice, and people who want better blood and keener enjoyment of life should not neglect taking at least a two-weeks' treatment of gentle health-building K. & B. Tea.

Druggists will tell you that scores of people enjoy a cup at bedtime because it keeps liver and bowels in proper condition and ends bilious attacks and sick headache. Give it to the children when peevish. They like it, and it acts very gently on their little bowels. Be sure you get Dr. Carter's K. & B. Tea.—ADV.

ONLY 14 LINES ON SALE AT ARMY'S TWO STORES HERE

Long Waiting Lines Almost Disappear—Possible That Some of Sold Out Stocks Will Be Replenished.

BLANKETS SOON WILL BE MADE AVAILABLE

Quartermaster-General, Refusing More Stores, Says City Has Exceeded Allotment in Some Goods.

Lessening of the variety of surplus army food supplies on sale at the Government retail stores has resulted in diminution of the waiting lines at the stores, which are at West Belle place and Vandeventer avenue and at Fourth street and Washington avenue.

An unofficial inventory of the stock at the stores yesterday showed that only 14 lines were on sale, as compared with the 46 which were offered during the opening week, in the latter part of September.

Goods That Are on Sale. The goods on sale now are bacon, baking powder, beans (dry and canned), peas, tomatoes, cornmeal, flour, hominy, corned beef, roast beef, corned beef hash, tea, safety matches and toilet soap.

Pineapple, jam, corn, raisins, canned pumpkin, soups, flavoring extracts, spices and other goods offered in the early days of the sale, have disappeared from the shelves. It is possible that some of these articles will be received later and put on sale, and in this case notice will be given the public. The supply of clothing and shoes is still sufficient to meet the demand, and shipments are being received daily.

The long lines of customers that appeared at the stores in the early morning and waited three and four hours have almost disappeared. The stores today are similar to any large retail store, except that they are more crowded. Improved methods and a smaller variety of goods have resulted in speedier handling of customers. Officials in charge of the sale say the total of daily sales is as large as in the earlier period, and on some days larger.

Blankets are being received and inspected daily at the arsenal and will be placed on sale in the near future. They are wool, cotton and wool and cotton, and will be sold below market prices. A shipment of assorted cakes also is expected at the arsenal, which will be sold in the stores.

Allotment Exceeded in Some Lines. A request for the establishment of more retail stores here, made by Congressman Igoe, has been denied by Quartermaster-General Rogers, according to dispatches from Washington. The official said St. Louis had, in some items, exceeded its allotment of army food and supplies and that the public was being accommodated sufficiently well at the present stores.

Announcement has been made that sales will be made at the Government warehouse, Broadway and Mullany street, to hospitals, orphanages, community buying clubs and associations, and that the representatives of these institutions and organizations must present credentials from the Chamber of Commerce or the Mayor. Sales of this character will not be made at the retail stores hereafter.

In addition to the army clothing store at West Belle place and Vandeventer avenue, there is a downtown army clothing store at 409 North Third street.

AGED WATCHMAN IS SENTENCED

Gets 10 Years for Killing Man Last July Who Kicked His Dog.

One of the oldest men ever given a penitentiary sentence here is John Mahan, 68 years old, of 2216 North Broadway, a watchman, who yesterday was sentenced to 10 years for killing Melvin Tobin, 27 years old, 3828 Kennerly avenue, after Tobin had kicked his dog, last July 20.

Witnesses testified that while Tobin and a girl, with another couple, were passing Mahan's house, the dog ran out and attempted to bite Tobin, who kicked it. Mahan got a revolver and followed them. In an argument which followed he fired two shots with fatal result. Mahan testified Tobin grappled with him, and the revolver accidentally was discharged.

Farmers to Elect Officers.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Discussion of various economic and social questions in their relation to the farmers of the country and election of officers today were on the program of the newly formed American Federation of Farm Bureaus. O. E. Bradfute of Xenia, O., was prominently mentioned as a choice for president. Upon its formal organization last night the federation issued a statement that there was no intention on its part to oppose labor or capital, but that the aim was to "stand solely for the farmers' interests."

Part of Crew of U. S. Ship Rescued.

By the Associated Press. THE HAGUE, Nov. 14.—Two boats containing 18 members of the crew of the American Steamer Council Bluffs have been picked up by a mine sweeper near Terschelling, according to a naval dispatch received here.

FRIENDS OF WATERWAYS DIVIDED ON CONTROL

On Test Vote 61 Representatives Favor Army Engineers and 21 the Shipping Board.

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—One difficulty in the way of getting suitable legislation to foster inland waterway development is the fact that friends of the waterways disagree among themselves as to what is best. This was exemplified in the House of Representatives Wednesday, when members were called upon to choose between conflicting recommendations as to the agency which shall take over the Mississippi and Warrior River barges at the expiration of control by the Railroad Administration.

Several Missouri members who were earnestly desirous of voting in the best interests of the waterways were at a loss to know what to do. The question arose during debate on the Each bill, embodying the program agreed upon by the House Interstate Commerce Committee, for the future control of the railroads. It is provided in this bill that management of the inland waterway facilities shall be transferred to the War Department. After considerable discussion the provision was allowed to stand.

Representative Montague of Virginia argued that operation of the boats should be placed under the Department of Commerce. The work, he said, was purely a commercial undertaking and he did not believe there was any department of the Government less fitted for it than the War Department. Chairman Each defended the committee's proposal on the ground that the War Department's corps of engineers, which has jurisdiction over the improvement of the rivers, has carried on exhaustive investigations of the types of river craft and accumulated a fund of experience that makes it the logical agency for the operation of the Government fleets. Representative Rowe of New York thought that the bill should designate the United States Shipping Board, as is done by the pending Senate bill. This board, he asserted, is the one existing agency of the Government which is equipped for the commercial operation of ships. Rowe's proposal was supported by Representative Small of North Carolina, former chairman of the Rivers and Harbors Committee, who said that a recent Washington conference of waterway advocates had concluded after careful deliberation that the Shipping Board was the best Federal agency to handle inland waterways, expressing admiration of the army engineers in their particular sphere. He thought their training has not been such as to qualify them to be skilled transportation operators.

Well-Trained Men Wanted.
"We have an opportunity," said Small, "to rehabilitate commerce over the great Mississippi River. Let us have the boats operated by men who are familiar with the needs of commerce."

Representative Barkley of Kentucky made the point that there is no bureau of the Shipping Board which is authorized to operate boats; this function being in the hands of the Emergency Fleet Corporation with the Shipping Board. If the inland waterways boats were given over to the board it would have to build up a new department. He felt that the army engineers, already acquainted with the problems of river traffic, should be chosen as the operating agency. Taking the same position, Representative Oliver of Alabama declared that much of the work of the present inland waterways division of the Railroad Administration was being done by the army engineers. He said that he had yet to hear complaint against the engineers from any friends of the waterways.

"They have officers stationed at New Orleans, Mobile and St. Louis who are thoroughly familiar with the entire Mississippi and Black Warrior rivers projects," said Oliver. "Once by adopting the committee recommendation can you know that no one unfriendly to river transportation will be entrusted with this important work during its experimental test period?" He contended that the army engineers were the agency most friendly to the rivers won votes for the committee recommendation. Division showed 61 votes for the engineers as against 21 for the Shipping Board, proposal, which had been substituted for that naming the Department of Commerce. No record vote was taken.

TIME LIMIT ON GOLDMAN CASE

Lawyer Is Given One Week to Submit Arguments.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Charges that counsel for Emma Goldman was deliberately delaying deportation proceedings against her are made by Byron H. Uhl, Assistant Commissioner of Immigration. He wrote Harry H. Weinberger, her lawyer, giving him one week to submit his case. Uhl said that three weeks ago Weinberger was given a month in which to offer proof that his client was a citizen, yesterday he asked for another month.

DECLARES PLUMB WAS WRONG

Replying to a statement made here Wednesday by Glenn E. Plumb, author of the Plumb Plan for nationalization of the railroads, that the Frisco Railroad was capitalized for $800,000,000, while the physical property valuation was but $150,000,000, Samuel L. Lamm, a director of the Frisco, replies that the assets of the railroad exceed the capitalization by $29,679,637, and that Plumb had evidently been misinformed. 1918, places the total assets at $258,013,123, and capitalization at $238,323,486.

Who am I?

Imagine being asked (by a girl you like), "Are you married?"—and being unable to give the answer!

Imagine being asked your real name—where you live—where you came from—where you are headed for—and being absolutely at sea!

Jasper Soames—he doesn't know if he is Jasper Soames—"woke up at sea" in both senses of the word. He was on shipboard—he knew that. But how he came there, where he was going—why—where—when?

Thus begins "The Thread of Flame" by Basil King, author of "The City of Comrades," in the December Women's Home Companion.

Lost identity—handled by this master of thrilling plots in a way that holds you tense and breathless from the moment you read the first paragraph to the end.

Adventure! Love! Life! The scenes change swiftly. There's never a dull moment in this big, book-length novel. Read it now—before everyone starts talking about it.

Timely Features

Have You Found that Perfect Husband?

Here are some more of "My Husband's Worst Fault"—and how I helped him correct it. This month there is a "hurry up husband" and a "gum-chewing husband." It's good reading for husband, too.

What Do Your Hands Tell?

Look at your hands—do they denote a practical mind? Will power? timidity? endurance? temperament? The December Companion will tell you.

One Day in Bed

A helpful article on the oldest, newest, least expensive medicine for tired nerves and tired bodies. Try it—but you must do it just right.

Do You "Dab" on the Powder?

Keep it up, and it's "good-by complexion"! Powdering is an art. Have you mastered it? Grace Margaret Gould shows you that it is quite simple, after all.

The Winter Modes

With all its wealth of stories, special features, and Christmas things, the December Companion is full of smart new fashions. Furs seen along Fifth Avenue—gowns at the matinee and at five o'clock.

Can We Communicate with the Dead?

The thinking world "sat up and took notice" last month when they read the first of Margaret DeLand's clear-minded discussions on Spiritualism. Read what she says in December.

Good Stories

"Mistake"

Here's a love story such as only Alice Brown can write. It's staged on Christmas Eve—which makes it all the more timely.

"Grandmother's Debut"

by Elizabeth Cathbert Hall, shows the eternal truth that no woman is ever old enough to be indifferent to her looks.

"If You're in Love"

—and even if you're not—your sense of values can get most awfully twisted. So it seems in Sophie Kerr's newest story. It's about TWO men and ONE girl.

A Story that Never Could Be "Written"

It "just happened"—and here it is as it happened, a true story by Medora Field.

A Double Love Story

Just what does one mean by "double love"? Well, read Jane Barker's "Primrose Taffeta." Aside from love, it's full of fun—and even fashions.

What All Can Happen in "One Day"

to a beautiful woman in the far West? This story by Mary Arbuckle tells what did happen to Ellen and her little boy, Roger.

Chock-full of Christmas

Does the Christmas Spirit Still Live?

This woman wondered—so she dressed herself in rags, mingled with the crowds on Christmas Eve—and found out. It's a true story. Maybe it was in your town!

Your Christmas Dinner Table

An up-to-date dinner with all the good things to eat, and the fun and the spirit of the old-fashioned Christmas dinner. Christmas "Jack Horner" pie—and some "different" place cards.

BRIDE OF WEDNESDAY ON HONEYMOON IN EAST

Mrs. Robert E. Moloney.

MURPHY-VAN SICKLER WEDDING TOMORROW

Reception Will Follow Ceremony at Home of Bride's Parents.

An interesting wedding will take place tomorrow evening when Miss Eva Jane Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin H. Murphy of 3346 Pershing avenue, will become the bride of William H. Van Sickler, son of Mrs. William Van Sickler of 3916 Enright avenue, at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Dr. R. H. Woodrow will perform the ceremony at 8 o'clock in the presence of the immediate families and intimate friends of the couple.

The bride will be attended by Miss Florence Van Sickler as maid of honor and her sister, Mrs. Irby Bagwell of Atlanta, Ga., as matron of honor. Earl Murphy will serve Mr. Van Sickler as best man. Miss Murphy's gown will be of heavy cream satin, the skirt draped and the bodice fitted in with duchesse lace, edged with seed pearls. The long sleeves will be of georgette crepe, trimmed with bands of the satin, edged with seed pearls. Her veil is an heirloom in the Van Sickler family, and was last worn by an aunt of the bridegroom. It is of rose point, and will fall from the head to the bottom of the court train of satin. A wreath of orange blossoms will hold it in place around the head. The bride's flowers will be a shower of orchids and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor will wear a frock of chintilly lace over gold satin, and will carry a shower of ward roses and violets. Miss Van Sickler's frock will be similar in an orchid shade of satin.

A reception will follow the ceremony, after which Mr. Van Sickler and his bride will depart for Chicago on their wedding trip. They will be at home after Dec. 15 at 736 Eastgate avenue.

Mrs. Samuel C. Davis will be hostess at a tea this afternoon at her country home, Lilac Root, in honor of Misses Betty and Eunice Hodgman, debutante daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hodgman of 3179 Waterman avenue. The tea, which will be given by Miss Alicia Hafner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Hafner of 4511 West Pine boulevard tomorrow. About 150 guests have been invited, and the hours for calling are from 5 to 7 o'clock. Assisting the hostess will be eight young girls, and the same number of young men have been asked to come at 4 o'clock. The girls will be Misses Irene Smith and her groom, Miss Dorothy Pank; Emma and Mildred Petring, Marguerite Orthwein, Elizabeth Ballard, Frances Garrison and Elizabeth Bradshaw, and the men will be Messrs. Ralph Thomas, Jerry and Gregory Klicher, Warren and Austin Drew, Ray Martin, Ridgely Young, Carlie Lynn and the hostess's brother, Joseph Hafner Jr.

Miss Frances Carlton, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Carlton of 484 Lake avenue, will share honors with Miss Queenie Deacon, whose marriage to Thomas Stephen Martin will take place next Wednesday, at a mixed tea, which will be given by Miss Alicia Hafner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Hafner of 4511 West Pine boulevard tomorrow. About 150 guests have been invited, and the hours for calling are from 5 to 7 o'clock. Assisting the hostess will be eight young girls, and the same number of young men have been asked to come at 4 o'clock. The girls will be Misses Irene Smith and her groom, Miss Dorothy Pank; Emma and Mildred Petring, Marguerite Orthwein, Elizabeth Ballard, Frances Garrison and Elizabeth Bradshaw, and the men will be Messrs. Ralph Thomas, Jerry and Gregory Klicher, Warren and Austin Drew, Ray Martin, Ridgely Young, Carlie Lynn and the hostess's brother, Joseph Hafner Jr.

Our new assortment of silver, gold and platinum, some encrusted with diamonds, are as useful as they are beautiful. Haffner-Venohoff Jewellers, 812 O-Miss Locust.—Adv.

Mrs. Frederick H. Starr of 333 Bristol place, Webster Groves, will be hostess at a large card party next Wednesday afternoon. The guests of honor will be Mrs. William Crossley Hunter of Kansas City, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Walter Edwards of 3513 Bismarck avenue, and Mrs. George Harley Hamilton.

Mrs. Walter Irvine has returned to New York after spending a month with her daughter, Mrs. E. J. Leveaux of Overland Park.

The young girls and society matrons who are interested in the society benefit performance Dec. 6 and who are assisting in various ways, will beg guests at a luncheon tomorrow at Hotel Statler, which will be given under the auspices of the Executive Committee. Among the girls to attend are Misses Mary Plant, Doris Drummond, Elizabeth Benoit, Erwin Hayward, Ruth O'Reilly, Ada Johnson, Jane Bemis, George Anderson, Caroline Tyler, Louise Francis, Muriel Clemens, Margaret Kendrick, Eleanor Knapp, Eunice and Betty Hodgman, Juliette Rayburn, Nancy Walker, Henrietta Davis, Alice Little, Frances Garrison and Marian Francis, who is chairman of this group of girls. The matrons will include Mrs. Julius Walsh, Charles Rice, John Fowler, George Tiffany, H. Worthington, Henry and Benoit, August A. Busch.

Charles Wiggins, Breckinridge Jones and George Neldringhaus.

The marriage of Miss Louise Welsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Welsh of 6125 Waterman avenue, and Robert Moloney, was solemnized Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock at St. Rock's Church. Mr. and Mrs. Moloney are spending their honeymoon in the East, and will be at home after Dec. 1 at 740 Westgate avenue.

A dance will be given tomorrow night in the Knights of Columbus hall at Jefferson Barracks by girls of the Community Service Incorporated club. It will be on the order of the dances given during the summer at the Francis lawn, and was arranged at the request of Col.

McFarland, commandant of the Barracks.

Mrs. Henry Clarkson Scott of 31 Westmoreland place and Miss Mary Lionberger of 30 Westmoreland place will give a dinner dance at the St. Louis Country Club this evening in honor of Miss Lionberger's niece, Miss Ruth Lionberger, debutante daughter of Isaac Lionberger of 31 Westmoreland place.

Mrs. Claude Kennedy, 18 Lenox place, will give a theater party in honor of Miss Eunice Hodgman, one of the debutantes of the season, Dec. 1, at the benefit performance of "Chu Chin Chow" at the Shubert-Jefferson Theater, for the St. Louis Protestant Orphan's Home. The theater party will be followed by a supper and dance at Hotel Jefferson.

Mrs. J. F. Morehead of 215 Westgate avenue will give a tea in honor of her daughter, Miss Frances Ann Morehead, on Monday, from 4 to 5 o'clock.

COUNTESS LEO TOLSTOI, WIDOW OF NOVELIST, DIES IN RUSSIA
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 14.—Countess Leo Tolstoy, widow of the famous Russian novelist, died at Yasnaya Polyana, Nov. 4, according to a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Helsingfors quoting the Krasnaya Gazeta.

Countess Tolstoy, before her marriage, was Sophie Behre, daughter of a fashionable Moscow physician. She was married to Count Tolstoy in 1862. The couple had 16 children.

Count Tolstoy's vagaries in his later life which led him to flee from his family in search of a simple mode of living, were said to have been a great strain upon his wife.
When the novelist became critically ill just prior to his death in November, 1910, he was lying in a poorly ventilated room at a small village 80 miles from his estate at Yasnaya Polyana, attended by his daughter. As Count Tolstoy had expressed the wish that no one seek him out, Countess Tolstoy sent an urgent appeal that she be permitted to join him in his self-imposed exile and hardships.
The Countess later received a touching letter from the Count and proceeded to the village, but was admitted to the sickroom only the night before he died.

HOTELS ANNOUNCE CONVENTION RATES FOR REPUBLICANS

Average and Not Maximum Charge Will Be $4 a Day, According to Letters Given to Committee.

Charles F. Hatfield, manager of the St. Louis Convention Bureau who was understood by reporters at the conference in Mayor Kiel's office Wednesday on plans for obtaining the Republican National convention for St. Louis to have said that hotel rates would not exceed $4 a day for convention visitors, today told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he had quoted an average rate and not a maximum rate.

As a matter of fact, rates quoted by St. Louis hotels to Hatfield and Jacob L. Babler, Republican National Committee member from Missouri, run as high in some instances as $24 a suite, though it will be possible to obtain accommodations at good hotels for as low as $2.50 a day.

Each of the larger hotels has signed a definite agreement, in the form of a letter to Babler, as to the rates which will be charged during the convention, giving Babler the numbers of the rooms and the rates which will be charged for those rooms.

Not Big Increase.

In most instances the rates to which the hotels have pledged themselves are not materially higher than the regular rates, though it is the intention to place two or more persons in as many rooms as it is possible to make that arrangement, and by either charging each the full rate for the room or making a higher charge for two in a room than one, to increase their returns. Hotel managers said that to obtain accommodations in downtown hotels, as most of the visitors would prefer, it probably would be necessary to put two or more in many rooms. They also said the cost of caring for two persons in a room was greater than the cost of caring for one in a room.

Hotel Statler, in a letter to Babler, quoted rates from $2.50 for one person in a single room to $12 for two persons in a room. It promised to hold 450 rooms for convention visitors, of which 170 could be priced $2.50 for one person or $5 for two; and 190 would be priced $3 for one person or $6 for two. The remaining 90 rooms would run at different prices up to $12, but all rooms for which a charge in excess of $6 was made would be for two persons at the same price as for one.

Hotel Jefferson quoted rates from $7 to $15 a room, the private being given to place two or three persons in a room. A charge of $20 was quoted for committee rooms.

The Planters Hotel quoted rates ranging from $4 for a room for two persons up to $24 for a suite for five or six persons. Some of the rates named by the Planters management were: Two persons, $5; two, $7; two or three, $10; three, $9; five, $24; $24 for a suite for five or six persons. Each of these, however, is unpolished in brown Spanish Morocco leather. Set comprises Divan, comfortable Arm Rocker and Armchair—priced at $100.

Double Charge for Two.
The Maryland Hotel announced its rates would be from $5 to $8, with a double charge if two persons occupied a room.

For the American Hotel and the Annex the rate quoted was $2.50 to $5.50, with an extra charge of $1.50 for each extra person above two in a room. Only 47 rooms at these hotels are at the higher price, according to the management.

The Marquette rates ranged from $2 for a small room for one person up to $12 for a large room in which from three to six persons could be placed. This hotel also quoted rooms for one or two persons at $5, for one or two persons at $6 and for two to four persons at $10.

The Warwick quoted 125 rooms for one or two persons at $5 and the Majestic quoted rooms for one or two at $5.

Babler, who, accompanied by Chairman Schmol of the Republican City Committee, departed for Washington yesterday to interview members of the Republican National Committee and Republican party leaders about the convention, took with him the letters from the managers of the hotels to show that hotel accommodations at reasonable rates could be had in St. Louis if the convention was brought here.

PLAYWRIGHT HIT ACTRESS IN EYE TO "PUT SHADE ON IT"

"Then She Had Me Pinched," He Says, "and Slapped on Suit for $50,000 Which Won't Be Collected."
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—Eugene Walter, the playwright, has been visiting friends in New Iberia while a bench warrant from a California court could not find him. Press dispatches had told how he had struck Miss Nina Whitmore, a motion picture actress, in a hotel in Los Angeles. He had been attentive to her since his separation from his wife, known to the stage as Charlotte Walker. He was arrested, gave $100 bond and came away. Miss Whitmore is suing him for $50,000.

"The girl had been with the 'Follies,'" said Walter today, "and I got her into the motion pictures out in Los Angeles, where she made good and was on her way to be starred by the Goldwyn people, for whom I have been writing a lot of scenarios. She told me she was a single girl, and I planned to marry her. Then, when I found she had been out with a leading man for the movies, I talked her with it, and she told me she had been married."

"Then I learned that she had never been divorced. The California sunlight was bright, so I put a shade on her eye for fooling me and she had me pinched. I put up a hundred dollar fish to get out, and then she slapped on a suit for $50,000, which, take it from me, will never be collected.

"I've been down in New Iberia parish with friends, and while I was there I wrote a new play and now I'm going to New York to put it in the hands of my producers."

BRITISH RAIL UNION OFFERED A VOICE IN MANAGEMENT

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 14.—Premier Lloyd George has offered the railwaymen's union membership in committee management of the roads with railroad directors and Government officials, according to a statement by J. H. Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen.

Thomas announced that the Government also has made a definite offer of new machinery to deal with wages of railwaymen and settlement of disputes. Both offers were made at a conference of the Premier with a delegation from the National Union of Railwaymen yesterday. The plan will be submitted to the executive of the union today for decision.

$26,500 Paid for Bull Calf.
ABERDEEN, Oct. 15.—What was claimed to be new world's record in cattle prices were established at the Shorthorn sales on the opening day of the Aberdeenshire show, buyers were present from as far away as Argentina and Hungary. A bull calf bred by William Duthie of Collymore sold for 5300 guineas (nominally more than $26,500). This is said to be the highest price ever paid for a bull calf.

RACE CLASH AT WILMINGTON

By the Associated Press.
WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 14.—Rioting between whites and negroes broke out here last night, following the killing of one policeman and the wounding of another by negroes whom they were questioning regarding a recent robbery.
Angered by the double shooting, whites of whom thousands were in the streets, gathered about the scene. A crowd of whites, some armed with clubs and stones, broke up the negroes and caused them to retreat. The police were then ordered to fire on the negroes, who were then broken up and fled. The shooting occurred when the two policemen went to the Price home to investigate the shooting last week of a negro from a gun store.

Shortage of Hens Declared.
LONDON, Oct. 11.—Experts who have been studying the shortage of eggs estimate that there are 180,000,000 fewer hens in the world now than there were just before the war. England used to import 200,000 tons of eggs yearly, but because of the shortage this country is able to buy only 40,000 to 50,000 tons.

TRADE CONFERENCE IN MEXICO

Meeting Called by W. F. Saunders, Formerly of St. Louis.
The St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, now secretary of the American Chamber of Commerce in Mexico City, has caused a trade conference to be called in Mexico City for Feb. 11-13 and has expressed the hope that American business and banking will be fully represented. His announcement states that the American Government will be represented.

The need of the conference, Saunders says, is the increasing trade between the United States and Mexico. This was $245,613,991 in 1918, he states, with a prospect of a very large increase in the 'twenties of 1919. The proceedings will be in English, but will be published also in Spanish.

THREE MEN INJURED WHEN THEIR AUTO OVERTURNS IN COLLISION

Five persons were injured in automobile accidents yesterday afternoon and evening. Three were injured when an automobile driven by John Warnack, 44 years old, a switchman, 514 S. Harrison street, was overturned in collision with the automobile of Wilfred Ropkequet, 273 North Taylor avenue, as Ropkequet turned into an oil-filling station at 2019 South Ninth street, at 3 p. m. In Warnack's machine were Lee Cotton, 30, 1376 Montclair avenue, and Charles Bennett, 30, Venice, Ill., both switchmen. All were cut and bruised. Melville Reddy, 14 years old, 2649 Hickory street, a messenger, was knocked down by an automobile driven by G. W. Henderson, 511 South Second street, at Fourth and Olive streets, at 6 p. m. He suffered internal injuries. Henderson told policemen the boy ran from behind a street car directly in the path of his machine.
Marie Guerdan, 8 years old, 2710 North Twenty-first street, suffered internal injuries, cuts and bruises when struck by an automobile driven by Eugene Winston, a negro, 4255 Cook avenue, at Twentieth and St. Louis avenue.

CAPTAIN OF MOUNTED POLICE IS GIVEN BELGIAN DECORATION

Presentation Is Made by Instruction of King Albert for Services While He Was in St. Louis.
Capt. Robert Hanna, commander of the Mounted Police district, was decorated today at the police station in Forest Park, with the golden medal of the Order of Leopold II by instruction of King Albert of Belgium.
When Albert visited St. Louis he was escorted by mounted police upon whose appearance he commented. After his departure he instructed Marc Seghin, Belgian Consul in St. Louis, to arrange for the decoration of Capt. Hanna in recognition of services rendered during the royal party's visit to St. Louis. It will be remembered that the King also bestowed decorations upon Mayor Kiel, Chief of Police O'Brien and James E. Smith.

MINES OPERATED BY STATE

By the Associated Press.
BISMARCK, N. D., Nov. 14.—The State of North Dakota expects to have 30 union coal mines under its control and in operation by night. Troops were dispatched by Adjutant-General Fraser to various coal fields yesterday to take over the mines as requested by Gov. Lynn J. Frazier. The Washburn Lignite Co.'s mines at Wilton were surrendered to the State under protest. Three hundred union miners were ready to resume work there, but transportation facilities to get them to the mines were lacking.
In handing over the property President W. P. McCumber reserved the right to seek restoration and reparation in the courts.

Bolshevik Overthrow in Brest-Litovsk

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 14.—The Bolsheviks have been overthrown in Brest-Litovsk, a Soviet wireless dispatch from Moscow today admits. After fighting the insurgents there for eight days, the dispatch says, the Bolsheviks withdrew "under ground." (This expression is commonly used in Russia to indicate the temporary abandonment of an attempt to control.) The communique asserts that the Bolshevik army in Siberia has captured 99,000 tons of grain.

303 N. Seventh Street—and really clean clothes

The daily demonstrations of BlueBird at the BlueBird Home, 303 North Seventh street, are convincing more and more St. Louis housewives that it is possible for a washing machine to wash things really clean.

In fact, many housewives frankly admit that BlueBird washes things cleaner and whiter than their own laundresses can wash them by hand.

And yet BlueBird handles garments so carefully that they last actually five times as long as when scrubbed on the rub-board.

BlueBird washes a big tubful of clothes in less than ten minutes. It does the whole family washing in an hour of a morning.

You can see BlueBird at work any day at the BlueBird Home—on Seventh street, just across from Famous-Barr.

Or, if you prefer, we will demonstrate BlueBird in your own home with your own washing.

Call and see BlueBird, or phone us and we will do your week's washing FREE.

Don't Burn and Blister Your Skin With Liniments and Plasters

Trying to Cure Your Rheumatic Aches and Pains

Whenever you suffer from an attack of rheumatism, you know that the pain is not only a torment, but it is also a warning. It is a warning that the blood is impure and that the system is out of balance. It is a warning that the time has come when you must take action to restore the blood to its normal state.

The necessary treatment is to remove the real cause of the ailment and to cleanse the blood of those impurities which multiply unless the proper treatment is applied.

Do this before another attack. Before your joints swell and you lose the use of the parts affected. Get yourself a bottle of the well-known Plough's Prescription C-2223 and a package of 2223 Liver Pills. Take one pill at bedtime; the following morning begin the Plough's Prescription C-2223 treatment, taking two powerful doses three times a day to half glass of water. Wear suitable clothing; do not expose yourself to damp weather and chills from the use of wet coats and hats.

Many medical authorities agree that there are very few drugs which have any value in the treatment of Chronic Rheumatism and those named are used in the preparation of Plough's Prescription C-2223.

The manufacturers have so much faith in the merit of Plough's Prescription C-2223 that they will refund the price of two $1.50 bottles if you do not get the relief which you expected.

Your nearest druggist can supply you with Plough's Prescription C-2223 at $1.50 a bottle, or the 2223 Laboratory, Memphis, Tenn., will send to you prepaid, on receipt of price. Clip and mail this for sample of 2223 Liver Pills and booklet which tells you all about this real rheumatic treatment.

HEADQUARTERS OPENED FOR COMMITTEE OF 48

Representative of New Political Faction Arrives Here to Prepare for National Conference.

Harold F. Williams of New York, vice-chairman of the executive committee of the Committee of Forty-Eight, an organization of radicals and liberals, who, while opposed to the Democratic and Republican parties, refused to subscribe to the theories of the Socialist party, today opened headquarters in Hotel Statler in advance of a national conference of the organization in St. Louis Dec. 9, 10 and 11.

The announced purpose of the conference is to bring together men and women of liberal minds who are dissatisfied with existing political and governmental conditions, with the intention of forming a permanent organization which will function either as a new political party, or by working within one of the old parties to seek to control it.

In getting together a membership, leaders in New York have sent out questionnaires to all who signed cards of membership, seeking their views on the Plumb plan, the Non-Partisan League, immigration, compulsory military training and other matters. The membership was obtained principally by sending propaganda literature to the subscribers to the Non-Partisan Leader, the official publication of the Non-Partisan League, to The Nation, and similar papers and magazines.

Williams said today that a Platform Committee was drafting a tentative platform based on the replies to the questionnaires, but that it would not be made public until the conference convenes. According to advance information, about 90 per cent replied that they favored the Plumb plan, and the Nonpartisan League and opposed compulsory military training.

A conference of local members, including Louis F. Budenz, secretary of the Civil League; the Rev. Dr. James W. Melvor, William Marlon Reedy, Prof. Tyrrell Williams, William F. Woerner and Percy Werner, will be held this afternoon in Budenz's office to perfect local arrangements for entertaining the conference in December.

LABORER, 90, DRINKS VINEGAR AS A TONIC

Aged St. Louisan, Who Works
Daily, Has Own Rules for Long Life.

Drink a quart of vinegar every week, eat raw beef, abstain from tobacco and coffee and observe regular sleeping hours and maybe you will live as long and be as vigorous and as healthy as Frank Arnold, 90 years old, who works daily as a laborer, supporting with his earnings a family consisting of his sixth wife and his 16-year-old daughter.

A Post-Dispatch reporter, who visited him at his home, 1461 Madison street, found him dressed in the overalls in which he had worked all day in the shipping yard of the Chevrolet Motor Car Co. at the foot of Rutger street.

Arnold said that for the last 40 years he has consumed a quart of vinegar weekly, drinking a tablespoonful of the acetic acid. It has a beneficial effect on his kidneys, he maintains. As to eating raw beef, he declares that he prefers it that way to any other. "I first learned to eat raw beef while with the Indians and I relish it," he said.

Boy Taught Him to Write.
Although he has never been to school, Arnold is well educated. He learned to read and write when 20 years old by employing a small boy to teach him the alphabet at the rate of five cents a letter. The boy would draw the letters in chalk on the sidewalk and explain them to him.

Arnold said that he has one other living child, Mrs. Catherine Holman, 54 years old, now residing in the south of England. She is the daughter of his second wife, an English woman. All of his former wives died and in relating this he declared that "if they had followed my advice I am sure some of them would be alive today."

"I came to St. Louis when I was two months old," he said. "My father was killed near Tecumseh, Mich., in the Black Hawk War. My earliest recollection of the city is the commotion that occurred when a meteor fell in 1833. I watched the fall from my mother's shoulder and remember that everyone appeared excited and declared the end of the world had come."

Never Been Inside School.
"I have never been inside a school, but that was because I was a bad boy and would not obey my mother. It was this disobedience that led me to run away when I was eight years old to get a job as a deck sweeper on a steamboat running between St. Louis and New Orleans. That started my career as a sailor, for I have been everything from deck sweeper to cabin boy, cook and seaman."

"I worked on the steamboats until I was 19 years old, when I got married in St. Louis. My wife died a year later. I came up on a boat one day with a stranger who offered me $60 a month to go with a wagon train to California, when the gold rush began in 1849, and I accepted. We were two months making the trip and finally reached Sacramento, where I divided my time between cooking and working in the 'diggins'."

"On that visit I accumulated about $9000 in gold, which I brought back to St. Louis with me and entrusted to my mother. The following year, 1849, I made a second trip and got together $9000 more, which I brought back safely. On my third trip to California I was not so fortunate and nearly lost my life."

Attacked by Indians.
"We were returning from the West in 1850 and had reached a point 10 miles west of Denver when Indians and half-breeds attacked us. In the melee I was hit and when I revived I was held on a horse by an Indian riding over the plains. We rode for more than a day and finally reached an Indian camp, where I was placed under guard in a wigwam."

"I was forced to sleep in this wigwam with the Indian who captured me, his squaw and a young Indian girl. If I moved a finger during the night they were on the alert. I lived in this fashion for seven months and learned to speak the language. I told the girl how my sisters and mother were at home crying for me and one day she came into the wigwam carrying a jug. She passed it to the old man, who took a swig of it and then passed it to the squaw. When they gave it to me I looked at the girl and she shook her head. I pretended to drink and then set the jug down. In a short time the old ones were asleep and I went outside where the girl fetched me a pouch, powder horn, gun and four bullets and showed me which way to go."

"I walked for three days, eating a little pemmican that the girl had given me. I was 14 days on the prairie and did not know where I was. Then I ran out of water and food and was too weak to do any hunting."

Visited by Brigham Young.
Arnold said that he staggered on for another day and finally sank down, exhausted, on the prairie. When he regained consciousness he was riding in a wagon driven by an old man, who told him they were going to Salt Lake City, Utah. The old man, who was a Mormon, fed him and cared for him in his home. While there, Arnold said, Brigham Young, the Mormon leader, was brought in to visit him. After several weeks Arnold said he asked for permission to take the next wagon train for St. Louis, but obtained it only on condition that he return to Salt Lake to reside permanently.

"The next year I went back to the steamboats and went to New Orleans," he continued. "I had a little (Continued on Next Page.)"

COMBINGWON'T RID HAIR OF DANDRUFF

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—ADV.

W. C. T. U. TO AID IN ENFORCING DRY LAWS

State Women Open One-Day Convention—Members Will Keep Watch for Violations.

Members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Missouri, which has 14,344 members in the State, will watch for violations of the prohibition laws, and will report them to the Federal authorities, it was stated today at the morning session of the one-day convention which opened at the Planters Hotel.

Miss Lettie Hill May, corresponding secretary, stated in her report that 733,780 pages of prohibition literature was circulated in the State by the organization in the year just ending.

The principal activity of the organization henceforth is to aid the authorities in seeing that prohibition is enforced, the report of the executive committee stated. Members were urged to do all in their power to aid in making dry laws effective.

The report stated that citizenship schools, to instruct women in the use of the privileges and duties, will be established soon in the principal cities of the State for the benefit of any who desire to attend.

An address by the president, Mrs. Nellie G. Burger, will be heard this afternoon, and the election of State officers will be held.

Plans are to be made for raising $34,600, the State's quota of the jubilee fund of $1,000,000, which is to be raised in the country in the next five years.

Today's meeting is preliminary to the opening of the national W. C. T. U. convention here tomorrow.

BUSINESS MEN PLAN TO WIDEN MORGAN STREET DOWNTOWN

Projected Improvement Between Third and Twelfth Discussed With Director Talbert.

Widening of Morgan street, between Third and Twelfth streets, from 50 to 80 feet, is planned by a number of business men having interests on that street and on Washington, Lucas and Franklin avenues. The purpose of the widening is to direct the growth of the downtown retail district to the north of Washington avenue rather than to the west of Twelfth street.

The widening would be accomplished by cutting off 30 feet from the south side of Morgan street. The improvement was discussed by the business men with Street Director Talbert, in a conference held at the Grand-Leader store yesterday afternoon.

money when we reached there and walked down to the wharves to see the ships. We met a couple of fellows and had a few drinks. I drank in those days, and the thing I knew I was on a ship bound for England. They had "whanghailed" me."

Landed in England "Broke."
He said that the ship he sailed on was known as the Camilla and the cruelties practiced upon the crew by the captain and his mates made the voyage one of great misery. Three members of the crew died from the injuries inflicted by the third mate, a man named Williams. Williams was hanged and the captain and other mates sentenced from five to seven years following a trial that resulted from complaints made by the crew after the ship docked.

"Once during the voyage Williams ordered me to slush down the foremast, which meant that I was to climb up on the mast and grease it. I had never done that kind of work and when I got up above the ropes I was unable to go on. Williams, down below, asked me what the trouble was. I told him, 'So you can't go up any higher, hey?' he called, and the next thing I knew he was right below me swinging at me with his 'Mattie Walker,' a length of heavy, knotted rope. I went up."

Arnold said that when he landed in England he was "broke" and several days later he enlisted in a British Infantry regiment. Two weeks later he sailed for India. He remained there two months and was assigned to service in the Crimean war.

He said that he participated in the siege of Sebastopol, where he was wounded by a shell fragment. Followed With British Marines.

"I was removed to Scutari where I was treated in a hospital supervised by Florence Nightingale. I met her many times. When I got well I was sent back to England where I stayed in a barracks near London for a long time. I finally obtained my discharge by appealing to the American Minister, James Buchanan, later President of the United States.

"My discharge did not do me very much good, because I traveled around England instead of using what money I had to return to the States. When I was broke I enlisted, this time in the British Marines and I remained with them until 1874."

Good Hope four times. Arnold returned to the United States in 1875 and came direct to St. Louis, which he had not seen for nearly 25 years. He was at first unable to find any of his relatives, but finally found his uncle, John Brewer, whose father at one time operated the Franklin Brewery, located on Market street, near Twenty-first street. He said he then learned from the first time of the death of his mother, which occurred in 1849. He never found trace of the money he had left in her care.

Since 1875 Arnold has remained in this country. He lived in Texas for several years, working as a sheep herder and practicing dentistry, which he had been taught by his brother, Richard, formerly a resident of Odell, Ill. He later went to New Orleans, working for a time as a carpenter and as a driver.

He moved to Tennessee and worked as a farm hand and in 1895 returned to St. Louis. He has worked at various occupations since his return to the city. Recently he was employed in the street department. Two years ago he left that work to accept a job at the motor company's plant.

He says that he has never been sick in his life and does not expect to be sick. "I never worry about dying," he declared.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is a Brisk Purgative With Calomel, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nauseless, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds and influenza can be depended upon for effectiveness until the liver is thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the use of a purgative. Calomel, the purified and refined Calomel Tablets, which are free from the ening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also insist on the fact that an active liver may go a long way toward preventing influenza and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One Calomel Tablet—tongue at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, no interfering with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Druggists sell Calomel only in original sealed packages, price 35c. Your money will be cheerfully refunded if you do not find them delightful.—ADV.

Dorothy Dix's
Talks

What Is the Greatest Disappointment Matrimony Has Brought You?

THREE women all of whom had made marriages that had been more than usually successful, were discussing the inevitable disillusion and disappointments of matrimony the other day.

"I have drawn a gilt edge prize in the matrimonial lottery," said the first woman, "there is no finer man than my husband and yet I have had my rude awakening from my girlish dream of what marriage would mean."

"My greatest disappointment in marriage has been that it has brought me no companionship, and that I have longed for and what I really married to get. I pictured my husband and myself as two pals—two souls with but a single thought, two hearts beating as one, you know, going down the years in a community of interest that never palled on either. I imagined us as reveling in the kind of talk that is never ended, I on tips about everything that concerned him, he vitally interested in everything that concerned me, both of us reading the same books, knowing the same people, with millions of unobtrusive topics to discuss."

"I wanted to vivisect my very soul with him, to talk to him about things that are so sacred and holy I could only tell them to the person I loved best on earth, and who meant more to me than I meant to myself, and I wanted to stand with bowed head reverently before his own inner shrine. That was my ideal of the holy estate."

"And when I bumped up against the reality it was like a jar that loosened my wisdom teeth. I know my husband loves me. I know that he has respect for my intelligence, and faith in my discretion, but a store dummy around the house would be just about as responsive and companionable as he is."

"I know nothing of his business, nor of the men and women with whom he is associated during the hours he is away from home. When he is very chirpy and good natured, and makes me a handsome present, I judge things are going well with him. When he is irritable and glum I deduct that he is going through the same heavy strain, and that business is going badly, but I never have a chance to sympathize with him because he never tells me a word of his affairs."

"His excuse for this is that he needs rest and peace at home, and that if he has to thrash his business over with me it unites him for the week next day. He does not want to tell him about my affairs because that is adding the household worries on to his business worries, which is true, but it eliminates one of the great joys of life, that of talking over problems with an intelligent and sympathetic listener."

"My husband does not like to go out in the evening, so I take my amusements in the afternoon, at luncheon and women's affairs and of those who make up my social life he is totally unacquainted. Thus he knows one set of people and I another."

"He reads only the papers and a few magazines. I read many books. I go to art exhibits and concerts and operas. He cares only for musical comedies, and so we have many subjects because he is interested along one line of topics and I another, and the result is that we have almost no real companionship. I am a lonesome woman."

"I suspect him of being a lonesome man because he has shut me out of his world and would not come into mine."

"My husband is another blue ribbon husband," said the second woman, "but I too had my disappointments in marriage. It was when I found out that I couldn't tell the truth to my husband."

"All my life I had seen my mother tell my father the things that were troubling her, but she never told him the right way before she made perfectly reasonable requests of him, and I had always secretly wished both for her and for myself that when I married I would be perfectly open and above board with my husband, and use no subterfuges whatsoever in dealing with him."

"Alas, I soon found out that if I was to have any peace of mind and get anything I wanted, that I would have to follow in my mother's footsteps. I, too, have to pretend to regard my husband as an oracle and seek his advice about things that I have already decided. I, too, wheedle money out of him instead of demanding it as a right, because I earn it as wife and mother, because he likes to be officially recognized as the source from which all blessings flow. I, too, have to wait the psychological moment when he is purring under my hand before I can suggest the thing I want to do. I, too, have to camouflage unpleasant truths, and walk on eggs to avoid treading on his pet prejudices, for big and fine as my husband is in many ways, he simply will not stand for candor and truth from his wife."

"My husband is the best and kindest and most generous of men," said the third woman, "but the blighting disappointment in my matrimonial life is my husband's lack of enthusiasm. I am an incurable bunch of thrills. I enjoy things until it actually hurts. I can weep my eyes out over a sick kitten. I can gloat all day over an old bit of china. I will sing and shout over a wonderful view. There is nothing that God ever made that was beautiful enough or wonderful enough, or strange enough to get a peep out of my husband. He is the great human being, but he is not a thrill man. I am tempted to explode a stick of dynamite under his feet to see if he'd do more than sort of grin."

Mrs. Plumb a Firm Supporter Of Plumb Railroad Plan

MRS. GLENN E. PLUMB

By MARGUERITE MARTIN.

JUST as much interested in the success of the Plumb Plan as Glenn E. Plumb himself, is his wife. Which is not strange. Wherein she differs from most wives of public men whom I have met, who may understand and sympathize with their husband's projects, but whose usual role is to remain discreetly in the background, is that Mrs. Plumb is overlooking no opportunity herself to expound the plan and appeal for its support.

Otherwise she does not appear to differ from the usual wife of a successful man. She is a youngish woman, with a firm little chin and wide frank blue eyes. Auburn hair smoothly dressed, and the clear complexion which goes with that coloring. She dresses smartly, looks prosperous and is as convincingly sincere as energetic in her expression.

Her public work had gone no farther than Red Cross work, and becoming chairman of organization for the South Side of Chicago. She learned through Red Cross work, she says, as did other women, that their household interests need not suffer while their interests were thus divided. Accompanying her husband on this tour, at first she had no thought of speaking in public, but she says she believes the industrial problem, which the Plumb plan seeks to solve, is so much a woman's problem, that she cannot refrain from talking to women about it, and she now purposes to address them wherever opportunity offers.

"I believe in the Plumb plan," she says, "because it is a plan which proposes to accomplish a just valuation of railroad properties, an equitable adjustment of railroad rates and the most efficient and harmonious system of administration of the railroad systems that could be devised," she said to me. "I believe its importance to be unlimited since the adjustment of railroad rates is fundamental to the whole industrial problem."

"I have great faith in women," she continued. "It was women in the group of abolitionists who brought about the war which freed the slaves. It was women continually talking and working who brought about prohibition. It is always women who are first to realize the tragedy of life, while men are occupied in the cold commercial pursuits."

"The industrial problem today is the spending power of the dollar, rather than increased wages. Plan, plan, plan, is the word. Men are the earners but it is women who are the spenders of what most men earn. If there is any criticism in the house on the future of expense, that criticism always falls on the heads of the women of the household."

Mrs. Solomon Says---(Being the Confessions of the Seven-Hundredth Wife.)
By HELEN ROWLAND.

MY DAUGHTER, wouldst thou gain a man's EAR?

For, verily, verily, as surely as the lamb after Mary, as surely as the soup after the oysters, and the fish after the soup, so surely will his heart follow after it.

Then, hearken unto my wisdom, and refuse not my counsel; for I have known much men, and not ONE of their little quaintnesses is hidden from me.

Behold, if thou but learnest to ring the changes upon the abverb "HOW," not one man shall escape thee. For this little word is the magic key which unlocketh the way to every man's heart.

Hear, then, the fifty-seven varieties of the wise maiden's prayer, which she chanthe to the man of her heart's desire.

"How wonderful!"

"How didst thou ever THINK of that!"

"How well we keep step together!"

"How distinguished thou lookest in evening dress!"

"How MUCH thy profile resembles Napoleon's! (Or Bushman's—or Southern's!)"

"How HARD thou workest—how much TOO hard!"

"How is it thou never hast thought of becoming an actor? (Denoting beauty.) Or an author? (Denoting genius.) Or a lawyer? (Denoting astuteness.)"

"How dost THOU think the league of nations will work?"

"How broad are thy shoulders—and how strong thy muscles."

"How dost thou like my hair, this way?"

"How SWEET of you!"

"How COULD she treat thee so!"

"How generous thou art!"

"How thou must suffer!"

"How shall I do this—or that—or the other?"

"How didst thou EVER accomplish so much?"

"How DIFFERENT thou art from other men!"

"How much thou hast seen of life!"

"How well thou understandest me!"

"How similar are our ideas and how CONGENIAL our tastes!"

My Daughter, ask me not why the reiteration of this word-of-three-letters before Congress offering many solutions to the problem, what to do with the railroads.

The Sandman Story
for Tonight.

By MRS. F. A. WALKER.

Candy Boy, the Bully

ONCE upon a time there lived in a shop window a little Candy Boy. His coat was red and his trousers were striped red and white. His eyes were yellow, his lips were red, and his nose and face white.

His shoes and stockings were red and yellow and altogether he was a very bright fellow, to look at, at least.

But I am sorry to say that Candy Boy was a bully and every night when the shop door was locked and he was still in the store, he would begin to talk.

"Nobody in this window is as brave as I am," he would say. "I am not afraid of anybody here or anywhere. I would like to see any one lick me."

Little Miss Doll, who wore a dainty pink dress, turned up her little nose. "I think you are a very rude boy," she said, "and no nice-mannered boy would say such things as you do."

"O, ho!" scoffed the Candy Boy. "You are a girl. I don't like girls; they are stuck up."

"I would not talk about being stuck up," said Miss Doll. "I heard the shopman say the other day that you would have to sell your soul at half price to get out of this window."

"Well, who is going to lick me in here?" asked the Candy Boy. "I should like to see someone try it, that is all."

Little Rubber Dog barked, but he did not like Candy, so the bully said again, "I am not afraid of dogs and no one can lick me. I would like to see them try."

"I would scratch you if I could reach you," said Rubber Cat. "But you cannot lick me," said Candy Boy. "I am not afraid of any one. I am a brave fellow."

And every night the toys had to hear this bad boy brag that no one could lick him until all of the other toys in the window wished something would happen to take him away.

One day they were made happy by seeing the shopkeeper reach in the window and lift out Candy Boy, and a few minutes after, right in front of them, outside the window, stood a little boy with Candy Boy in his hand.

And oh, such a revenge as the toy brag! For Candy Boy could no longer brag. He was getting such a licking as only a Candy Boy could get, and there, right before the very eyes of all the other toys, Candy Boy was slowly licked away.

And that night, peace once more reigned, and all the toys hoped that never again would a candy boy come there to live.

Children in Rheims Have Shell-Pitted Playgrounds.

RHEIMS, France. — Children are playing on seesaws improvised from logs remaining from the bombardment in Rheims. The playgrounds have been made by filling in shell holes in open plots of ground. German prisoners have furnished the labor of preparing them. But the children are playing again, and growing healthy and strong.

The American Y. W. C. A. maintains two such playgrounds in Rheims in distant parts of the city. Both are in the center of populous regions and the children play in them from 9 until 11 in the morning and from 3 to 6 in the afternoon. They are safely out of the way, then, and the playgrounds have been made by filling in shell holes in open plots of ground. German prisoners have furnished the labor of preparing them. But the children are playing again, and growing healthy and strong.

The Y. W. C. A. has just opened its new foyer in Rheims on the Boulevard Lundy, which has recently been cleared of barbed wire and reopened to traffic. Sewing classes for women and girls who want them will begin there as soon as trams are running again. Classes in French spelling, letter writing, arithmetic and geography are now being offered to girls whose education was interrupted by the war.

The program for this winter will also include talks for girls who want to do domestic work, a series of lectures on health, gymnasium classes both day and night. The Marquis de Polignac is co-operating with the Y. W. C. A. by greatly enlarging the circulating library.

A 16-year-old girl who joined an English class in June has written the following theme on the foyer: "The foyer is a good institution. It gives to young girls a sane and agreeable pastime, especially in the devastated towns."

French women will learn to know their American friends. The foyer has done very much good and still continues to do good under the good management of the organizers. A pupil of the course, offered so generously to French girls, suggested this idea, "Have a Library."

"I rally to this thought. It would be agreeable as much as possible to

The Curious Quest

"LITTLE lady," he begged, "cheer up! Life isn't going to stop for us altogether, even if we have to look for new posts. You came out for a motor ride and some fresh air. Let's enjoy it."

The ring of her old bravery came back to her. She laughed and settled herself down comfortably.

"I wonder," she murmured, "whether Mr. Montague will enjoy his dinner."

They sped on through the pearly twilight and through the soft darkness, until the glow in the sky and the great carpet of twinkling lights warned them that they were nearing London. He withdrew his arm then and slackened speed a little. She shivered.

"Is there about London to terrify you?"

"I don't know," she answered, "and yet, it does terrify me. It's so hard and cruel and strong. It seems all the time to be crying out for more victims; to be grudgingly doing out our daily bread with one hand and holding up all the joy of life just out of reach with the other."

"Then," Bliss declared confidently, "we must learn to climb."

They drove to the garage, where Bliss left a brief note for Mr. Montague and unlocked the sovereign. Then they turned out into the street.

"I have my week's wages in my pocket," Bliss announced, "an immense confidence, and an invincible appetite. Let me have my own way for once. We have just time for dinner and a bottle of Medoc."

She laughed half happily, half in desperation. They turned towards Drury Lane.

CHAPTER XIX.

THE lank young man, wearing a long brown linen coat over his untidy clothes, his fingers smeared with grease, his hair considerably ruffled, stood at the threshold of the little restaurant in Drury Lane, looking around, obviously in search of someone. He nodded to Bliss patronizingly.

"Chap from the Sun Motor Works," the latter remarked to his companion. "Come to look for one of their drivers, I suppose."

"Hateful people!" Frances declared. "And I should like to tell their manager exactly what I think of him."

"Tom would take a message, no doubt," Bliss suggested with a smile. "And I would like to hear it delivered." Frances continued firmly. "I should like to deliver it myself. I wonder sometimes whether these beasts who give a man or a girl the sack for no just cause are not simply because they are in a bad humor and feel like it, understand what they are doing—whether they know what it means to be out of work. They don't seem to feel any sense of responsibility toward other people.

It's self, self, self all the time!" Bliss' hand rested for a moment upon hers. There was the look in her eyes which had first made him understand the tragedy of such happenings. He had seen plenty of suffering and plenty of privation during the last few months, but these things found their way home to him with new significance when they became associated with Frances.

"Don't you begin to worry, dear," he begged earnestly. "You'll get another post easily enough."

"Perhaps," she assented drearily. "And yet—it has all got to start over again tomorrow morning—and I hate it so. I shall go about all day with a blank mind. Yes, I might do. And a queer pain every time some beast of a man shakes his head. I am like a beggar pleading for work. I'll have to pretend not to notice it if a man shows that he thinks I am a nuisance."

"I have to be looked at critically—and sometimes I can read the thought in a man's mind as he looks at me with my testimonials in his hands. Yes, I might do. And am I married, or have I a sweetheart—and so on. What right have they to ask such questions? Earnest, I loathe men! When tomorrow is over, I shall probably loathe myself."

"Look here," Bliss said firmly, "you've got to get out of this frame of mind, Frances. You're under-valuing yourself. You are clever enough, you have the full value to give for your wretched 30 shillings a week or whatever it is, without smiling at any employer in the world. You're not asking favors."

She sighed.

"That's what I tell myself, but if you only saw the stream of girls outside every office where there is a vacancy!"

The lank young man, returning from his tour of the restaurant, paused in front of their table.

"Got a job yet, Bliss?" he inquired.

Bliss shook his head.

"I've had one, but it's no good. Chucked it this evening."

The young man adopted a more confidential attitude. He stretched his hands upon the table and leaned over towards Bliss.

"Look here," he continued, "we're fairly stuck for a driver at the yard. The gov'nor has just hired out the old Wolseley racer to a young lady who's coming down for a motor and who's standing there now, waiting to take the thing away, and we haven't a driver who can be spared. I've been to all the pubs and two or three other places, but I couldn't find a soul except Sam Johnson, and he's as drunk as a lord. You take my tip and hurry around, and I shall be most grateful if you didn't get the job."

Bliss rose briskly to his feet, called the waiter and paid the bill.

"If I am not back in a quarter of an hour, Frances," he said, "you won't mind going home alone, will you?"

She pressed his fingers.

"Of course not! Good luck to you!"

Bliss found the same elaborate young man standing in the garage of the Sun Motor Co. By his side was a woman, of whose appearance it was that he could gather was that she was tall, dressed in a brown tweed ulster, a motor bonnet, and a very thick veil. Words were passing between the two, and the young man was apparently getting the worst of it. He looked up almost eagerly as Bliss approached. The lady was obviously annoyed.

"What is the use of showing me the car and telling me that it will be ready to leave the garage in five minutes? You know I can't drive it. Find me a chauffeur or give me back my money. I can't stand about any longer."

The manager stepped on one side.

"Want a job?" he asked Bliss under his breath.

Kremer, Zink and Whitley May Play Against Missouri

Injury to Berger If Expected to Keep Fast Halfback Out of the Big Game.

KREMER WILL BE AT END

Former Sub-Center Has Been Doing Great Work in Practice at Wing Position.

With only a light conditioning workout on the program of the Washington University football squad between now and game time, tomorrow, Coach Dick Rutherford's starting lineup against the University of Missouri team can be predicted with a fair degree of certainty.

The Pikeaway leader refuses to announce the opening array and consequently any selections are unofficial. The local team will probably take the kickoff in the following positions: left end, Kremer; left tackle, Krahe; left guard, Zink; center, Marquard; right guard, Bailey; right tackle, Lippert; right end, Hafner; quarterback, Conzelmann; left halfback, Pothoff; right halfback, Whitley or Pemberton; fullback, Captain Griesedick.

Last Year's Captain Hurt.

This lineup excludes three players who started against Drake last Saturday. George Berger, halfback and captain of the 1918 team, is out of the Missouri contest and according to the sound physician may be unfit for service against St. Louis U. on Thanksgiving day. Berger worked out in signal drill on Wednesday, but following the practice his shoulder pained him. Yesterday he attended the session as a spectator.

Hausladen, left end, and Kurrus, left guard, are the other Pikers who started last week, that probably will not appear for the opening kickoff. However, Rutherford realizes that they are both capable men and will be able to fill in at any time, if there is a call for substitutes.

Kremer has from time to time filled in for Marquard at center this year, but tomorrow will be his debut appearance of the season on an end. He played a good wing game in 1917 and had but little trouble in striking up his old acquaintance with the duties. Oscar Zink, the Medical School player, who reported last week, played a half of the Drake game and looked good between Marquard and Krahe.

Whitley May Be Tried.

It is hard to say who will fill in for Berger as Rutherford has worked all of his extra halfbacks. However, the idea of putting Hausladen in the backfield will probably be disregarded, for fear of slowing up the offense. If Joe were placed behind the line, the backfield would include three fullbacks. Both Whitley and Pemberton are fast, know football well, and can tackle as well as any other members of the squad.

The Tiger squad will be led into the city by Coach Johnny Miller this afternoon. Twenty-four players left Columbia this morning, and inasmuch as they will arrive shortly after 2 p. m., it is likely that they will go through a light drill in some local campus in order to keep in top condition for the game.

The next sale continued at such an encouraging rate yesterday that the business managers predicted that all of the reserved and box seats would be sold out by this evening. About six new performers reported for the student band at the local school yesterday and the music-makers worked all afternoon and evening in order to practice outwining the band which will accompany the Columbia delegation.

$2000 in Wagers Reported.

The betting started in earnest yesterday, about $2000 being placed at even money. An odd situation exists among the bet placers, in that many Washington followers are asking for 4-4 odds, while Missouri alumni in this city were asking for the same favor yesterday. As a result most of the money is being placed on a 50-50 basis.

Eleven St. Louis Boys May Be Chosen by Washington Coach to Oppose Missouri

Piker Team Will Be Composed Entirely of Players Raised and Coached in Local High Schools, if Cohen Supplants Bailey—Only Two Outsiders on Entire Squad.

If Sid Cohen or Weiner replaces Bailey at right guard for the Pikers at any time during tomorrow's annual football struggle between Washington and Missouri University eleven, at Francis Field, the Pikeaway institution will then be represented by a team every player of which resides in the city of St. Louis, and learned football in local high schools.

There are 23 members of the Piker squad and of this number Bailey, from Skidmore, Mo., and Drake of Fort Worth, Tex., are the only outsiders. All others are from St. Louis or suburbs thereof. Drake is unlikely to get into the game, but Bailey will probably start the contest for Washington.

In 20 years of gridiron lore there is no instance duplicating this one-city representation on the part of a university of any consequence. The statistics published herewith show that, according to the figures given out by the team officials, Missouri slightly outweighs Washington, in the line, and is slightly outweighed in the backfield. The official weights are supposed to be taken "stripped."

Following are the statistics concerning the two squads that clash tomorrow:

ICE HOCKEY WILL BE RESUMED THIS WINTER

Ice hockey playing is about to be resumed at the Winter Garden. Teams are being organized which will probably represent the St. Louis Country Club, Sunset Hill Club and Winter Garden.

Many former college players have indicated their intentions of resuming the game. It is requested that any former Canadian players report Sunday at 11 a. m. at Winter Garden.

and see Andy McCreery or Bill Kimball.

Country Day Defeated.

The Country Day football team suffered defeat by a score of 27 to 0 at the hands of St. Louis U. Junior eleven yesterday. The game was played on Country Day's field. Harris scored three of the touchdowns and McHenry the other. Fagan kicked two goals and Stokes one. Next Wednesday the winners oppose Junior High.

60,000 Will See Yale-Princeton Battle Tomorrow

Every Seat in New Haven Has Already Been Sold for Annual Gridiron Classic.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—No empty, gaping patches will be seen in the Yale Bowl at New Haven tomorrow, as was the case at Princeton a week ago. The towering stands seat 60,000, to be exact, and 60,000 tickets have been sold. Not an inch of room will be available when the two evils line up.

This is the first time that the huge bowl will be absolutely full for the Princeton game, which is proof of the remarkable interest in football this year.

The Harvard-Yale game always has drawn better, in fact, extra rows of seats were built around the rim of the bowl several years ago for one game, so that 65,000 looked on at the Crimson and Blue waged battle.

Yale Players Are Confident.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 14.—Al Sharpe has injected much of the play spirit in coaching the Yale football eleven this fall. Even on the eve of the Princeton game, the men are going about their work earnestly, but not so seriously as to bring about that tenseness which is so destructive to the proper co-ordination of mind and muscle.

The Eli players are not flustered. Herbert Kempton, who directs the play at quarterback, is free from the usual burden imposed by the overpowering importance of the approaching struggle. The name is true of Capt. Callahan and most of the other players, which bespeaks a wholesome point of view and a quiet confidence. Powerful assets—these.

Reading between the lines, Bill Roper is not quite so confident that his Tigers will beat Yale, as he was that they would beat Harvard. He seems to hold the Yale team in more respect, as a football machine.

All But Two to Graduate.

Now that Sharpe has definitely picked his men to start the Princeton game, it is interesting to note that Kempton at quarter back and Al Sharpe at right guard are the only players who will not be graduated next June, and consequently be lost to the team. Reinhardt and Allen end; Dickens and Walker, tackles; Galt at one guard; Capt. Callahan at center, and the three backs, Joe Travis, Turkie and Bob Lay.

Neville, Jim Braden and Bob Lay are seniors.

On top of this, such good substitutes as Robinson and Wells, ends; Galvin, an extra good center; La Roche, the quarter back, who jumped into the breach when "Tuber" Smith was stricken with tonsillitis on the eve of the Princeton game in 1916 and made himself famous in Yale football by the masterful way he led the team to victory over both the Tigers and Harvard; Donald Wells, a capable back, and Thorne Murphy, a might have been the sensation of the year and a second year Charlie Bickley in drop-kicking expert for that unfortunate injury in the Boston College game, will go out into the world.

Tigers Stage Signal Drill.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 14.—A long, hard signal drill, with every man who has a chance of playing against Yale getting a workout, brought to a close yesterday afternoon the Tigers' last practice of the year here. In order to celebrate the fact, as well as to show the Princeton would be behind them when they oppose the Bulldogs at New Haven tomorrow, the entire student body, 1800 strong, staged a big parade and, headed by a band, marched down to University Field with cheers and songs galore.

Princeton is on the crest now and into the world.

Union Electric the Basic Industry

St. Louis' prosperity rests mainly on manufactures. St. Louis' growth is due mainly to increase of manufactures. Nearly all of St. Louis' new factories, and a larger number of the old ones each year, turn to Union Electric for their power—cheaper and more dependable than any they can produce. Union Electric's gain in power sales is the true index to St. Louis' steady growth during the past three years and to the extraordinary growth that is just now beginning. Here is the story:

POWER SALES: KILOWATT HOURS

Year	In the City	Outside the City	Total
1916	41,729,843	19,117,581	60,847,424
1917	52,144,378	32,665,798	84,810,176
1918	64,472,230	40,799,368	105,271,598

Sales fell off early this year when war munitions-making ceased, but—
WITHIN THE PAST TWO MONTHS UNION ELECTRIC HAS WRITTEN FIVE TIMES MORE POWER BUSINESS THAN IN ANY OTHER TWO MONTHS OF THE COMPANY'S HISTORY.

Fifteen large power contracts recently taken call for more than 18,000,000 kilowatt hours of energy yearly. All of these will be connected to Union Electric's lines between November and February.

Negotiations pending with more than 50 other old and new St. Louis industries will add another 17,000,000 kilowatt hours yearly to the company's connected power load between February and next July.

Increased use of electric energy in manufacturing means increased output per man, more wealth production, with easier working conditions.

Coal costs more every year, because of higher mining and hauling costs. Use of coal for power in a multitude of factories is becoming prohibitively costly. Its use in a single great central electric station, producing power at lowest cost for the whole community, becomes each year more necessary and financially desirable.

HEREAFTER, OTHER FACTORS BEING FAIRLY EQUAL, THAT CITY WILL GROW FASTEST WHICH GETS FROM ITS CENTRAL ELECTRIC STATION THE CHEAPEST POWER FOR ITS FACTORIES.

Union Electric is working and planning to keep St. Louis in the forefront among American cities on this basis.

Illinois Grain Men Ask for Cars.
By the Associated Press.
DANVILLE, Ill., Nov. 14.—Grain elevator men of Eastern Illinois and Western Indiana, at a meeting here last night dispatched a telegram to their representatives in Congress and Walker D. Hines, Director-General of Railroads, urging that steps be taken to furnish cars in which to market the corn crop. They assert there has been almost a total suspension of marketing corn, owing to car shortage.

Sinn Feiners Blow Up Memorial.
By the Associated Press.
CORK, Nov. 14.—The Celtic Cross, erected in memory of Cork soldiers killed in the Boer war, has been badly damaged by high explosive bombs placed by Sinn Feiners.

POLICE ITEMS

A PAIR OF GOLD-RIMMED SPECTACLES taken from Joseph Purcell, 2861 Scott avenue, by three men who entered and searched him near 516 Montrose avenue at 10 p. m. yesterday. The men failed to find his money.

OMAR E. WINTON, 475 PENROSE street, has asked police to arrest a man who has been at the Elgin Hotel, 4408 North Broadway, since Nov. 10, and who has been seen by several persons. Winton said.

THE HOMES OF ADOLPH KUNZ, 1800 East Fourth street, William Black, 4408 North Broadway, and Mrs. Alice R. Williams, 4018 North Broadway, were robbed of jewelry valued at $705 by burglars during the absence of the families last night.

MISCELLANEOUS

JACOB ROSENBLATT, 62 YEARS OLD, of 1541 Bienville street died at the city hospital at 1:30 a. m. today from a fractured skull suffered at 9 p. m. yesterday, when he fell while ascending a outside stairway at his home. He was near the second floor, when he made a misstep and fell backward, the yard at the first floor, a distance of 15 feet.

of 1111 Olive street. A fender on an automobile truck struck him as the car passed and he was crushed between the car and truck and thrown to the street.

HERMAN D. ABRAHAM, 42 YEARS old, a civilian clerk at Jefferson Barracks, died in a physician's office at 5714 South Broadway, a short time after he became ill on the street at 5 p. m. yesterday. Two persons assisted him into the physician's office, where he complained of pains near his heart. The doctor gave him some medicine and he started to leave and sank on a couch, where he died.

JAMES MORAN, 69 YEARS OLD, of Rochester, N. Y., father of J. R. Moran, St. Louis manager of the Wurlitzer Piano Co., died suddenly at his home Wednesday night from heart disease. Moran departed yesterday to attend the funeral which will be held tomorrow. The Rev. Moran, a retired merchant, was a guest here at his son's home last summer.

POLICE HAVE BEEN ASKED TO LOOK for Albert Gregory, 11 years old, 1523 Belt avenue, a pupil at the Arlington School, who has been missing since last Sunday morning. His last home at 9 a. m. saying that he was going to purchase some cartridges for his rifle. His mother, Mrs. Anna Gregory, requested the search.

Germans to Start for U. S., Nov. 18, by the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—The German labor delegation will leave for Washington on Nov. 18. The delegates will participate in the international labor conference.

SOCIAL PURITY CONDITIONS SAID TO NEED MUCH ATTENTION STILL

Head of Purity Federation Says Auto Is Great Menace to Morality.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 14.—Conditions with respect to social purity are not at the present time "in every way encouraging," B. S. Steadwell of Lacrosse, Wis., president of the National Purity Federation, said today at the conference on social purity.

of the Third World's Christian Citizenship Conference being held here. "Opportunities are multiplying rapidly for sexual temptation and license," he said. "The associations of the sexes are largely unguarded during those years when sexual passion is strongest; marriage is being deferred until middle life; divorce is increasing; most authorities agree that abortion is on the increase. Add to these conditions the fact that the sex appeal is universal—everywhere—in the newspapers, at the theater, the movie, the street car, the dance, the fair, the successful novel depends on it, our magazines cater to it, society seeks it, the home is steeped in it, the school condones it and often encourages it, professional life wallows in it, the Government is often influenced by it, and if we do not turn about face soon we will land where some of the Oriental peoples stand—we will worship it."

He declares the automobile is a greater menace to morality today than the red-light districts were 20 years ago, because it puts the "country roadhouse practically at the city limits."
